BRITISH MAKE NEW LANDING AT VOLTURNO

Main Forces of Fifth Army Pour Across River Into Newly Won Bridgeheads

RESISTANCE IS BITTER

BULLETIN
London, Oct. 15.—(P)—The German radio said today that German forces in Italy had evacuated Campobasso on the main Terno-Vincentino highway after embittered street fighting in the outskirts and in the town itself. The broadcast said four infantry and one tank divisions under Gen. Clark were attacking along the Volturno.

By NOLAND NORGAAARD

Allied Headquarters, Algiers.
Oct. 15.—(P)—The main forces of the Allied Fifth Army poured across the Volturno river into newly won bridgeheads today, and dispatches from Lt. Gen. Mark W.
Clark's battle headquarters said the British and Americans were throwing the enemy back along the entire front from the west coast to the mountain backbone of Italy.
The message telling of decisive gains all along the front in the course of furious and bloody fighting was received after an Allied headquarters communique had disclosed that British infantry and tanks had landed from British vessels on the north side of the Vol-turno's mouth early Wednesday evening with a frontal assault across the stream by American British infantry and engineers.

Rolling up the enemy's coastal anchor, this amphibious force quickly dug in positions along a anal, while British naval guns elched steel into the strong German defense positions behind the coastal railroad line on high round four miles north of the river.

While the British destroyers La-pierre and Lookout and The Net-hlands gunboat Flores hurled tons of explosive into the hills, a terrific fight raged along the coast, the Germans obviously had been neasy over the possibility of such landing—the first amphibious operation undertaken by the Fifth Army since its original arrival on the Salerno beaches—and had concentrated huge artillery groups in the dominating heights and in the lower ground.

Meanwhile, American troops stormed the heights northeast of Capua in the face of deadly German resistance and consolidated their hold on the high ground greening the all-important Capua ridgeheads where the major body of the Fifth Army was streaming into the offensive.

(A German broadcast had today the Allies had "superior infantry and tank forces on both sides of Capua.")

Axis Powers Send Protest To Portugal

London, Oct. 15.—(P)—Germany and Japan protested to Portugal today over the granting of bases to the Azores to the British, and the Nazis angrily served notice that they deserved the right to take retaliatory action.

Germany left unstated, however, whether she would go so far as to declare war on the Portuguese.

In announcing the protest, the Berlin radio called Portugal's act
"a severe violation of neutrality."
Berlin then reiterated its conviction that the Lisbon government had been forced into concession under pressure—a theme the Germans have harped upon since the Anglo-Portuguese agreement was first announced.

Just what retaliation the Nazis would take remained to be seen, but it was considered doubtful that they would plunge Portugal into war because by so doing they could lose one of their most valuable listening posts and spy centers in Europe.

LIBERTY SHIP LEWIS EMERY IS LAUNCHED

Baltimore, Oct. 15.—(P)—The Liberty Ship Lewis Emery, Jr., named for a Pennsylvania oil pioneer and legislator, slides down the ways at the Bethlehem-Fairfield shipyard today.

The sponsor is Mrs. F. W. Emery of Bradford, Pa., granddaughter of Emery.

Emery aided in the fight to organize independent oil producers in the early days of the industry.
He served 10 years in the Pennsylvania legislature.

60 Fortresses Lost in Battle Over Germany

LST Carries Its Own Bridge

Another clever angle on the Navy's LST boat: besides being able to scoop up close to shore and drop a drawbridge for quick landing, it can lay its own pontoon bridge over rocky shallows and heavy surf. Here you see the pontoon bridge in action near Licata, Sicily. (U. S. Navy photo.)

United Nations Relief Meeting In November

All 43 Countries Invited To Attend Sessions At Atlantic City Accept

MAY LAST A MONTH

Washington, Oct. 15.—(P)—All 43 countries invited to the United Nations relief meeting in Atlantic City, N. J., next month have accepted, it became known today, and several will be represented by their prime ministers.

The Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation has practically completed the agenda for the meeting, which will start November 10 and probably will last four or five weeks.

One of the main problems to be thruessed out is how to prevent distribution of relief from becoming a political weapon in the hands of returning governments-in-exile.

Observers here predict the meeting will produce results of concrete significance, in view of the importance of the delegates selected to attend.

Their names will be announced

COUNTERFEITER OF GAS STAMPS CAUGHT

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—(P)—The arrest in New York City of Dennis
A. Hill, sought since Oct. 3 by federal agents after a raid on a printing shop here in which counterfeit gasoline coupons worth 10, 000,000 gallons were seized, was announced early today by Myron M. Caffey, chief investigator for the Office of Price Administration.

Hill was sought on a warrant charging illegal manufacture, possession and transfer of federal ration currency. Caffey said he would be brought back to Philadelphia today.

The OPA investigator would not say how Hill was trailed, but reported that he offered no resistance when federal agents arrested him in a house in Harlem.

Greatest All-American Art On Exhibition In Pittsburgh

BY EUGENE COLLETT
Pittsburgh, Oct. 15.—(P)—American cities and farms, Niagara Falls and the Arizona mountains, skyscrapers and huts, crowds and empty streets, negroes and children, and bread and circuses...
These are some of the subjects among the 304 paintings on display at the 1943 Carnegie Institute exhibition, after viewing which one of the judges, Francis Henry Taylor, director of the Metropolitan museum of art, said:
"American art is growing up."
Though all the paintings were done in the United States in the last five years, war canvases are notably absent. The artists have turned from battle scenes, perhaps because the war is too new, and are painting their own countryside and its people recording the heartbeat of a nation.

An exception, perhaps, to the general trend of the show was the first prize winner, a portrait of

Men Who Play Hookey With Draft To Be Placed In I-A

Too Many Cases of Delinquency Being Reported to Selective Service

MAY BE PROSECUTED

Washington, Oct. 15.—(P)—
Play hookey, bud, and you'll find yourself in a uniform.

Whether you did or didn't attend school regularly has turned out to be an important factor in what draft boards want to know when a man's number comes up for induction into the armed forces.

And men now in long pants were warned today that playing hookey at their advanced age isn't cricket, either. Selective service announced that those who play hookey with their draft obligations—by failing to notify their local board of address changes—will automatically be placed in I-A starting Nov. 1.

As of Sept. 1, there were approximately 1,000,000 men in I-A.

Retail Sales Tax Proposal Is Opposed

Washington, Oct. 15.—(P)—A counter-offensive opened up in Congress today against a national retail sales tax, just as proponents were claiming enough strength to put through a 5 per cent levy.

President Philip Murray of the Congress of Industrial Organization (CIO) was invited before the house ways and means committee, now considering new tax legislation, after he had written Chairman Doughton (D-NC), as follows:

"In line with the aims of preserving health and efficiency standards, there should be no doubt of a quick rejection of all proposals for a sales tax or for other measures which would increase the burden on the people."

Forest Situation Is Much Improved

Harrisburg, Oct. 15.—(P)— Drenching rains brought all Pennsylvania forest fires under control today, reported George H. Wirt, chief state forest fire warden.

"The situation is very much improved," declared the official. "So far as I know all fires are out. We had pretty good rain practically everywhere except in northwest section where we had no fires."

He estimated that forest fires during the last two weeks have burned over 15,000 acres of woodland in Elk, Cameron, Clearfield, Centre, Pike, Monroe, Schuylkill, Luzerne, Somerset, Fayette, Clarion and Jefferson counties.

Wirt said a fire covering 6,000 acres in Elk was "the worst for a good many years so far as damage is concerned."

ROMMEL IS ASSIGNED TO YUGOSLAVIA

Two Important Victories In Widely Separated Sections Given As Answer to Appointment

MANY BITTER CLASHES

London, Oct. 15.—(P)—Yugo-slav patriots have answered Adolf Hitler's reported appointment of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel as commander of operations in Yugoslavia with two important victories in widely separated sections of the country, a communique of the National Army of Liberation announced today.

Partisan columns, driven out of the Croatian coastal stronghold of Crkvenica and Kraljevica by German tank formations on Oct.
10, reformed and stormed the enemy's positions, and finally expelled them from both towns in hand-to-hand fighting, the communique reported. Both are now "firmly held" by Yugoslavs, added the bulletin, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio.

In Zenica, major industrial town in the heart of the "Bosnian Ruhr," 25 miles northwest of Sarajevo, Partisan groups and German troops are still engaged in house-to-house fighting, which has been going on for the past three days, the communique reported.

Further south units of the fourth Croat brigade were said to have retailed two German military trains at Visoko and Ilidze, near Sarajevo.

Bitter clashes also were reported near Iliriska, Bistrica, Ljublijana and Ajdudina in Slovenia, while around Bakar Karlovos and Gospit only fighting of local importance was noted.

Rommel's appointment as chief of Nazi operations in Yugoslavia was announced by radio Berlin last night. An earlier Swiss report said he had been given command of all Nazi-occupied Italy, with Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring being "recalled" from his command of southern Italy after a quarrel with Rommel.

There was no indication that Rommel would personally take over the Balkan command. It was indicated he would probably act in a supervisory capacity, with Field Marshal Baron Maximilian Von Weichs, recently named Balkan commander-in-chief, in active charge.

Great Triumph Is Scored In South Pacific

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Oct. 15.—(P)— American and Australian planes have run up a score of 210 to 8 against the Japanese since Sunday over two enemy strongholds where Nippon's airpower is reputed to be great—New Britain and Bougainville.

The bulk of this score, 177 to 5, was registered Tuesday at Rab-aul, New Britain, by the largest force of bombers and fighters ever amassed for a single day's operations in the Southwest Pacific.

But today's communique disclosed that for the second time in as many days, more than 100 bombers and fighters swarmed over Bougainville in the northern Solomons the day prior to Rabaul's blitz.

While blowing up gun positions and spreading fires around the big Kahili airbase and sinking two large enemy cargo ships in Buksa passage, these raiders downed 12 out of 25 Japanese interceptors without the loss of a plane.

FORMER CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR DIES

Pittsburgh, Oct. 15.—(P)—Judge Ralph H. Smith of common pleas court, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1942, died of a heart attack today at his home.

He was the third member of the Allegheny county judiciary to die within a week, the others being Judge H. Walton Mitchell of orphans court and Judge Andrew T.
Park of common pleas court.

Judge Smith yesterday attended memorial services for Judge Park and apparently was in the best of health.

Soldiers Aid In Search For Missing Boy

Eight-Year-Old Youngster Disappears Into Thick
Cumberland Forest

SISTER GIVES ALARM

Newville, Oct. 15.—(P)—Soldiers of the Carlisle Barracks Medical Field Service School today joined in a hunt for missing 8-year old John Coover who disappeared yesterday into thick Cumberland county woods looking for firewood.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coover, said their son did not attend school yesterday but stayed home to help husk corn on their farm near here.

The first knowledge that anything was wrong, the mother declared, was when the boy's sister, Catherine 3, ran into the house sobbing: "Mother, Johnny's crying."

A search was started but no trace of the missing boy was discovered.

The mother said Johnny was helping husk corn and about 3 p.
m. he went to a nearby woods to get firewood for the kitchen stove to prepare the evening meal. The woods, she added, are only about 100 yards away from the corn field.

Johnny is a cousin of Vernon Henry Eltnor, who when one and a half years old disappeared from his Newville home in 1927 in the South Mountains and has never been heard of since, the parents explained.

New Super Bomber Placed In Service

Washington, Oct. 15.—(P)—A super-bomber—dwarfing the Liberators and the Flying Forts with its giant bomb load and destructive might—is on its way to enemy lands.

Some have been delivered to the army, although full production and participation in combat is not expected until next year. But belief was expressed by officials today that when the new planes fly into battle, the prediction of World War Ace Eddie Rickenbacker will be borne out—that "no nation could survive the pounding a fleet of these planes can deliver."

The mystery plane is known as the B-29, with a greater bomb-carrying capacity, range and fighting power than any existing bomber.

General Henry H. Arnold, army air forces commander, has observed—apparently with the new B-29 in mind—that the Liberators and Flying Fortresses were the "last of the small bombers."

Waters Sent Rolling Over Countryside In Attempt To Halt Russians

MELITOPOL IS ISOLATED

London, Oct. 15.—(P)—The waters of the great Dnieper dam—the largest in Europe—were sent rolling over the Russian countryside once more by German troops, the Berlin radio reported today in acknowledging their flight from Zaporozhe, their long-held southern key base and guardian fortress of the Crimea.

News that the $110,000,000 Dneprostroy had been loosed up by the enemy, indicated that they had succeeded in repairing it after the Russians destroyed its usefulness themselves, when falling back from the Dnieper in 1941 in what was called the greatest piece of self-sabotage of all time.

The gigantic dam is situated at the lower end of the Dnieper rapids, a few miles north of Zaporozhe and was considered one of the outstanding industrial achievements of the Soviet regime. Its waters generated power for the whole industrial area of the Ukraine and it has been said that "whoever controls the dam controls the whole southwestern Russian industry."

By blowing up the great dam, five miles northwest of Zaporozhe, the Germans evidently hoped to stall the Russian advance westward and to prevent the entrapment of garrisons in the Crimea, believed to number more than 100, 000 troops. There was no confirmation of the dam's destruction from Moscow and it was not known whether the Russians would be able to transport their armies across the newly-flooded terrain to close the Crimean escape corridors.

Meanwhile Melitopol, 65 miles to the south, had been isolated by other Soviet columns and its fall was expected hourly, the Russian communique indicated.

More Rain Is Needed Badly Officials Say

Harrisburg, Oct. 15.—(P)— Scattered showers over the state are helping to bolster dwindling water supplies in Pennsylvania communities but H. E. Moses, chief sanitary engineer, said today it will take "a good size rain" to replenish reservoirs.

"The water supply is so low that anything will help," he declared, but added that last night's showers "will probably be soaked up by the dry ground."

"We need rain badly," Moses said. "Unquestionably, this rain will help but we need a good size rain of several days to do any real good."

The state engineer explained southern communities in southern counties have drained regular and auxiliary reservoirs and "are using emergency" supplies.

The situation, he added, is "serious but no one is actually suffering from lack of water."

Opening Meeting of War Fund Campaign To Be Held Monday

LAST-MINUTE BULLETIN
Edward W. Johnson, chairman of the general War Fund committee made the following announcement a few minutes before the Times-Mirror went to press this afternoon:

Wroth, of Erie, former rector of Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, has been secured as

THREE PLANTS DAMAGED AT SCHWEINFURT

In Greatest Aerial Conflict Ever Fought Over Continent 103 Enemy Planes Are Downed

NEW ROCKET APPARATUS

BY HENRY B. JAMESON
London, Oct. 15.—(P)—Photographs revealed today that the giant Nazi ballbearing factory at Schweinfurt was obliterated by the terrific American heavy bomber assault that cost the Eighth Airforce 60 bombers and precipitated perhaps the greatest battle in aerial warfare.

At least 104 German fighters were downed by the Fortress sharpshooters and their thundering escorts in the attack yesterday.
Two U. S. fighters failed to return from the two-hour battle that ragged all the way from Europe's coast to the target and back again.

The reconnaissance photographs revealed the Schweinfurt plants, where probably 50 per cent of the Nazi's war-vital roller bearings are produced, were wiped out by the precision-pattern crews who were told in advance that a successful blasting of the target might shorten the war by six months.

The fact that the Germans threw up "everything in the book" in defense of that vital industrial center indicated that they, too, considered the factories of the highest importance to the war effort.

"Without the slightest hesitation, I would say one boys encountered the stiffest and fiercest fighting opposition in the history of aerial warfare," an Eighth air-force spokesman said.

"What we did to the Germans will be felt severely—and soon."

"The number of Fortresses that participated in the raid was not disclosed, but it was described officially as "large."

Despite the opposition, the American bombers splattered their bombs over all of the 72 acres of factory buildings housing one of Germany's most important centers for producing bearings—an essential for virtually every piece of mechanized war equipment.

"There ought to be ball bearings rolling all over Germany," said one crewman who watched hundreds of bombs pour into the target area.

The 60 heavy bombers announced officially as missing constituted the greatest loss ever inflicted upon the Allied air forces by the Nazis in a single raid.

President Hands Argentina Rebuke

Washington, Oct. 15.—(P)—
President Roosevelt sharply rebuked Argentina today for suspending publication of Jewish newspapers, terming this action in line with characteristics of Nazi doctrines.

It was the second time within recent weeks that this government had repudiated the only American policy still maintaining diplomatically relations with the Axis.

Mr. Roosevelt said in a statement to a press-radio conference that primarily the suspension of Jewish newspapers concerned the Argentine government and people.

Rites Planned For Prominent War Veteran

DISTINGUISHED RECORD

The body of Earl R. Small, prominent veterans' worker who passed away Thursday morning in the U. S. Naval Hospital in Philadelphia, will lie in state at Grace Methodist church from two until three o'clock Sunday afternoon, members of Dinsmoor-Schwinn Post, No. 631, Veterans of Foreign Wars, acting as guard of honor.

Funeral services there will be at three o'clock, conducted by Rev. Harold Knappenberger, with Dr. J. H. Clemens, retired pastor, assisting. Interment will be made in the family plot in Oakland cemetery. Friends may call at the family home, 208 Madison avenue, any time after seven o'clock this evening.

Mr. Small had been in poor health for the past six months and on August 25 went to Pocono Haven, near Mount Pocono, for rest and treatment. On September 17 his condition became much worse and he was taken to the naval hospital, where he was critically ill until the end.

Earl Russell Small, oldest son of the late James Andrew and Ida Arner Small, was born at Nebraska and his boyhood and early manhood were spent in Forest county. After graduating from Clarion Normal School he taught for several years. He then became associated with the Edward A. Woods Agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society and was with them for nearly 40 years. In early days as an agent his office was at Sheffield. After the war he attended Carnegie Institute of Technology and on completion of the course became a special agent for the Equitable Company and was an authority on insurance problems.

In 1917, rather than wait for a commission to come through, he enlisted as a private in Company I, 112th Regiment, 28th Division, and later was raised to the rank of sergeant. He was in much heavy fighting, taking part in battles at Champagne-Marne, Aisne-Marne, Oise-Marne and Meuse-Argonne. On September 28, 1918, in company with Private Fred Schwing, he carried a wounded man from an exposed position under heavy fire. For this act of heroism both men received the Distinguished Service Cross. He also held the Purple Heart medal, as he was twice wounded. On August 25, 1918, he was shot in the knee but refused to be hospitalized. Later, on October 7, he was wounded in the right arm by an explosive bullet, which kept him in the hospital many months after the war closed.

Earl Small was a lifelong member of the Methodist church, uniting with the church at Nebraska in early boyhood. When his family moved to Warren in 1923, he transferred his membership to the Grace Methodist church and throughout the years had been an active member, serving as trustee for many years.

He was a life member of the Army Navy Legion of Valor, chairman of their Foundation committee and a charter member of the Pittsburgh Chapter. He was associated with patriotic and civic affairs of Warren, took an active

Senior Senator Predicts War Fund Drive Will Be Success

Senator James J. Davis, Senior Senator from Pennsylvania, and member of the powerful senate finance committee, believes the Warren County War Fund campaign will go over the top.

Senator Davis, on the eve of the campaign, addressed a personal letter to Edward W. Johnson, general chairman, praising the county's sense of patriotic responsibility and expressing his good wishes to every worker in the drive. Thus, Senator Davis joins Governor Martin in communicating to Mr. Johnson not only his interest in the forthcoming ten-day campaign but his confidence that the goal of $88,700, the largest in a quarter of a century, will be reached. The text of Senator Davis's letter follows:

Dear Mr. Johnson:

"In my many visits to Warren County, I have been greatly impressed by the sense of civic responsibility so evident not only in the Borough of Warren itself but in all parts of the County.

"It has not surprised me, therefore, to learn, from news bulletins and other sources, of your county's success in the various aspects of the war effort. Naturally, with many friends in Warren and as a senator from our great state, I am keenly interested in everything that takes place in that section of Pennsylvania.

"Some weeks ago I learned that you had accepted the chairmanship of the organization that has undertaken the responsibility of Warren County's War Fund drive. I was well aware that the job had been placed in able and experienced hands.

"Now, as your campaign is about to begin, I should like to express my hearty good wishes for the success of your organization, not only in reaching the stipulated quota, but in giving to every individual throughout the county the opportunity to share in this great cause.

"I know that Warren County will go over the top!"

(Signed) James J. Davis,
U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania.

Red Cross Sponsors Courses In Swimming and Life Saving

Beginning November 1st, Warren County Chapter of the American Red Cross will provide instruction in various types of swimming and life saving. Classes will be held three nights a week in the Y. M. C. A. pool which has been made available.

Basic swimming will be taught on Mondays and an adult class for non-swimmers or novices will be conducted for men or women 20 years or older. There is no time limit on this course as ability and accomplishment are the measure of this basic swimming course. Red Cross Certificates may be issued for Beginner, Intermediate and Swimmer qualifications, depending on the degree of skills mastered. All non-swimmers should take this Red Cross Beginners Course before enrolling in the functional classes.

Functional swimming will be taught on Wednesday nights and Life Saving and Junior and Senior Advanced Swimming on Friday nights. These courses will cover a 20-week period and one hour or more will be devoted to each evening's work. Junior Life Savings is offered to boys and girls between the ages of 12 to 16 and covers 15 hours of instruction. Senior Life Saving is for both men and women who have passed their 17th birthday. 17 hours of instruction is required here.

Persons interested in any of these courses may enroll at Red Cross Headquarters, 404 Market St. Members of the Y. M. C. A. will receive instructions absolutely free while non-members of the Y.M.C.A. will only be required to pay a slight charge for the use of the pool.

These courses have been planned by the Red Cross to hold the interest of those men about to enter the armed services. The War and Navy Departments have placed great emphasis on the importance and value of swimming. In the majority of Army Camps and at many Naval Stations facilities for teaching swimming are lacking and trained instructors are scarce. The courses are not limited to military enrollees however and all interested persons are welcome to sign up for any of the classes in which their qualifications would place them.

School Music Booster Club Has Election

The School Music Boosters Club inaugurated its season Thursday evening in Beatty school with William P. Taylor as president, Bert Marrer as vice president and Mrs. N. K. Wendelboe, secretary-treasurer.

Harry Thurn, retiring president, opened the meeting by calling for reports and turning the session over to Mr. Taylor. Committee chairmen for the year were announced as follows: Membership, Mrs. Henry Bick; program, Mrs. William Erickson; refreshments, Mrs. A. J. Weiler; publicity, Mrs. L. N. Schuler.

Director Harry Summers reported on band activities for September and October, showing the group has played for the usual games, for the War Bond rally, for the War Chest and Boosters' meeting and the ensemble had been asked to play for teachers' institute and the PTA Council.

Chief item of business was the decision to have band instruments checked and placed in condition.

To conclude, Mr. Summers and the band members gave a demonstration and refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

Obituary

SAMUEL G. MILLER

Charles A. Miller, who has been in Vero Beach, Fla., for several weeks attending his brother, Samuel G. Miller, will arrive Monday morning with the body, removal to be made to the Lutz Funeral Home. Friends may call there from two until five and seven until nine on Monday and from ten until noon on Tuesday. Funeral services will be held there at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Wayne Furman and followed by interment in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Miller, who died at his home in Vero Beach on Thursday, was a former Warren resident. Born in Fulton, N. Y., May 2, 1868, he spent his youth and young manhood in Warren, working for several years as superintendent for the Seneca Oil Company and then going to California for three years in a similar capacity. About 1900 he went to the Cartagena oil fields in Colombia, South America, and remained there for eight years. Returning, he purchased an orange grove in Vero Beach and has made his home there for 30 years.

He leaves to mourn his passing two brothers and one sister, Charles E. and James S. Miller, with Mrs. H. G. Buerkle, all of Warren; also several nieces and nephews.

Lend-Lease Is Denounced As Colossal Dole

Three of the five Senators Russell D-Ga., Mead D-NY and Lodge R-Mass., are members of the appropriations committee. Mead was commissioned by the Truman investigating group to look into several phases of lend lease, including the distribution of American goods to civilian populations abroad, and the question of postwar rights to foreign airfields built with American money.

"What the public does not know, but suspects," Butler said, "is that this lending program actually is an outright donation program, the most colossal dole of all time."

DAR Chapter Honors Its Regents and Votes Participation In Many Services

Regent's Day of General Joseph Warren Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held Thursday with a one o'clock luncheon at the YWCA activities building, honored not only the presiding regent, Mrs. Leon Laskaris, but those who served as regents in the past.

Following a beautifully appointed luncheon for which Mrs. A. F. Kottcamp asked grace, Mrs. Laskaris welcomed the guests and called upon the following past regents for greetings: Mrs. P. C. Eaton, Mrs. Wilson Waters, Mrs. W. E. Lutz, Mrs. W. R. Carlin. Those unable to be present were

Mrs. R. L. Young, Miss Harriette Rogers and Mrs. A. H. Wickstrom. The guests included Mrs. John G. Albright, of Cleveland, visiting her sister, Mrs. F. L. Plummer, while en route to a new home in Rhode Island, and Miss Pemberton, of Fredonia, N. Y. Concluding, Mrs. Laskaris thanked Mrs. Plummer and her committee for the pretty flag-decorated luncheon table and other arrangements.

Hostesses for this month were Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. C. P. DeLong, Mrs. Mary Kirwin, Miss Eva Pelton, Mrs. W. H. Rawson, Miss Harriette Rogers and Mrs. W. H. Waters.

Adjourning to the parlors, Mrs. Laskaris opened the meeting by reciting the aims of the organization and with prayer by Mrs. Kottcamp. The Pledge of Allegiance, American's Creed and routine reports followed. Acting upon recommendations of the board, the chapter voted $85 for the Red Cross mobile plasma fund, $5 to the County War Fund, $5 to the Red Cross camp and hospital fund, $2 to the Penny Pines Project and to convert its bronze marker fund into two War Bonds. Reports were given on the card party and rummage sale for the Red Cross fund, and on the pre-induction party for which the chapter was hostess. The unit's participation in the four projects of the national society—blood plasma work, buddy bags, war bonds and stamps and war service records—was discussed.

Members stood a moment in silent tribute to a deceased member, Mrs. Clara A. Ghering, after which the regent and chaplain conducted a ceremonial welcoming three new members: Mrs. Fred Wendelboe, Mrs. Howard Norris and Mrs. Jessie Swain Gilling.

Others called but not present were Mrs. W. H. Hegerty, Mrs. Benjamin Connelly, Mrs. Carlton Gay, Mrs. C. P. DeLong.

For the program, Mrs. Carlin and Mrs. Fred A. Schuler conducted a round table on the national magazine of the order, assisted by Mrs. Laskaris, Miss Harriet Eaton, Mrs. Lutz, Mrs. Plummer, Miss Ethel DeForest and Mrs. O. H. Baird. To conclude, Miss Hulda Angermann gave a reading, "The Defense of Long Island".

Lewis and Loree Rites Announced

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Loree, 405 West Fifth avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Jane, to Robert E. Lewis, of Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lewis, of Bryant, Ind.

The ceremony was performed in First Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. Friday, October 8. Rev. Wayne Furman officiating. Wedding music was by Miss Evelyn Wolstencroft, church organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore turquoise chiffon with velvet trim, yellow pom-poms in her hair and carried a Dutch colonial bouquet. Her only attendant, Irene L. Riggs, wore rose crepe trimmed in velvet, with orchid pom-poms in her hair and the same blooms in her Dutch bouquet. Mrs. Loree wore wine and aqua with black accessories and Mrs. Lewis' ensemble was black. Each had a rose corsage.

Ralph T. Loree and Franklin A. Riggs were ushers and John Nordine was best man.

Players' Drama Enthusiastically Received Thurs.

An audience which had been held spellbound through three exciting acts of a rapidly moving courtroom drama at the Woman's Club last evening heartily applauded the verdict of the jury when it returned to the stage after only a brief deliberation.

The verdict was the climax to the trial held to determine guilt or innocence of Karen Andre in the murder of Bjorn Faulkner on "The Night of January 16th," first production of the Warren Players' Club and an auspicious beginning for the new season which will offer four public productions.

The jury, selected from the audience, was composed of Guinevere Knapp, L. A. Carlson, Dr. Jane E. Dunaway, Mrs. Anthony Valone, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Johnson, Wanda Hoskins, Mrs. Hans Link, Mrs. F. W. Mostert, Carl Nelson, with R. W. Steber as the foreman.

Too much cannot be said concerning the plot of the drama, which is based on certain facts from the fall of the Kreuger empire a few years ago, since unexpected details are one of the best features of the production. However, those who are familiar with Players' performances will not want to miss the second performance when the curtain goes up at 8:30 this evening.

In last night's audience were several visitors from Jamestown, including Miss Regina Ahlstrom, who had the role of Magda Svenson when the Little Theatre gave the play; Mrs. Helen Carr, cast as Karen Andre in that city, and Miss Catherine Scharf. They were most enthusiastic concerning the play.

and the wealth of talent among Players' members.

JUANITA ENNER
(Special to Times-Mirror)
Private funeral services were held October 8 at the Sage Funeral Home in Tidioute for Juanita Enner, of North East who died October 5 at the home of her sister, Mrs. G. C. Gelknap in Buffalo, N. Y. Interment was in the family plot in Tidioute cemetery with six nephews as bearers: Albert and Frederick Enner, Tidioute; Charles and Robert Enner, Buffalo; Russell and Ernst Gustafson, Tidioute and Oil City.

Out of town relatives attending were Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Gelknap, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Enner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Enner and son, George, Buffalo; Mrs. Philip T. Enner, Miss Mary Enner, Warren; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Gustafson, Oil City.

Juanita Enner, daughter of the late Charles T. and Jennie T. Enner, was born May 15, 1889 in Tidioute. She attended grade school in Tidioute high school in Paducah, Ky., an Hoff Business College in Warren. She had traveled extensively, having spent some time in South Africa and a year in England, where she studied music. She was a talented musician in both voice and piano fields. For the past 12 years, she had been employed in the office of the Electric Material Company in North East. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and Dr. W. J. Prout, of Tidioute church, had charge of the funeral service.

She leaves as sister, Mrs. Gelknap; two brothers, Frederick Enner, of St. Louis, Mo., and Robert Enner, of Buffalo; also several nieces and nephews.

MRS. HEASLEY MOORE
Mrs. N. Moore of Marienville, of Charles Hill and Mrs. Clarence Moore of Marienville; and two sons, Christ Heasley of Cy and Isaac Heasley of Leeper. A funeral service will be held at 3:30 p. m. Saturday in the Greenwood Methodist church with Rev. E. J. Jennings of the Polk Methodist church, her former pastor, and Rev. F. Victor Korb of Lickingville, officiating. Interment will be in the Greenwood cemetery.

Personal Paragraph

Mrs. Clair A. Neal and daughter Virginia Gorman left this morning for Nashville, Tenn., where she will spend some time with her son, A. Neal who is serving in the medical corps.

It will interest friends here to know that Mrs. G. A. Neal has sold her farm at Lake and moved to 281 West street, Meadville. Living there is her son, Lynn Pierce, who is employed by the Erie Railroad Company.

Expected here this week-end are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Yeager, Conewango who have been in Harrisburg attending the sixth annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Olander, of Irvine, Pa., accompanied by the latter's sister, Miss Anne Marie Royek, of Erie, will leave this evening for Mary Tobias, and family for a few days.

Miss Mrs. D. R. Foster, of Meadville, has had word from her daughter, Miss Jean, that she is starting an engagement at the Statler Hotel in Washington, D. C., as vocalist and guitarist with Cal Gifford's Society. Miss Jean has been vacationing with her sister, Miss Betty, in New York for the past two weeks, having completed an all-summer engagement with the band at Virginia Beach, Va.

HANNAH CRONHOLM
Miss Hannah Cronholm, who has been a resident of the Rouse Hospital at Youngstown for 60 years, died at 8:30 a. m. today in the Warren General Hospital, where she was brought a short time ago. The body has been removed to the Peterson Funeral Home and it is likely interment will take place tomorrow.

EDWARD KELLY
Funeral services in memory of Edward Kelly were held at two o'clock yesterday afternoon at the family home in Clarendon, conducted by Rev. Jesse Knapp, of the Clarendon Methodist church. Mrs. Clara Nielsen sang "Resignation", with accompaniment by Miss Joyce Barnes. Interment was made in Oakland cemetery with Alvin, Merle and Marion Albaugh, Willis Mead acting as bearers.

Those who came from away were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mohney and children, of Kane.

Indications that Pennsylvania's 1943 is likely to continue are conall-time high egg production for tained in the announcement that a record number of chicks were hatched in commercial hatcheries of the state during the first eight months of the year.

School Music Booster Club Has Election

The School Music Boosters Club inaugurated its season Thursday evening in Beaty school with William P. Taylor as president, Bert Marrer as vice president and Mrs. N. K. Wendelboe, secretary-treasurer.
Harry Thurn, retiring president, opened the meeting by calling for reports and turning the session over to Mr. Taylor. Committee chairmen for the year were announced as follows: Membership, Mrs. Henry Blick; program, Mrs. William Erickson; refreshments, Mrs. A. J. Weiler; publicity, Mrs. L. N. Schuler.
Director Harry Summers reported on band activities for September and October, showing the group has played for the usual games, for the War Bond rally, for the War Chest and Boosters' meeting and the ensemble had been asked to play for teachers' institute and the PTA Council.
Chief item of business was the decision to have band instruments checked and placed in condition.
To conclude, Mr. Summers and the band members gave a demonstration and refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

Obituary

SAMUEL G. MILLER
Charles A. Miller, who has been in Vero Beach, Fla., for several weeks attending his brother, Samuel G. Miller, will arrive Monday morning with the body, removal to be made to the Lutz Funeral Home. Friends may call there from two until five and seven until nine on Monday and from ten until noon on Tuesday. Funeral services will be held there at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Wayne Furman and followed by interment in Oakland cemetery.
Mr. Miller, who died at his home in Vero Beach on Thursday, was a former Warren resident. Born in Fulton, N. Y., May 2, 1885, he spent his youth and young manhood in Warren, working for several years as superintendent for the Seneca Oil Company and then going to California for three years in a similar capacity. About 1900 he went to the Cartagena oil fields in Colombia, South America, and remained there for eight years. Returning, he purchased an orange grove in Vero Beach and has made his home there for 30 years.
He leaves to mourn his passing two brothers and one sister, Charles E. and James S. Miller, with Mrs. H. G. Buerkle, all of Warren; also several nieces and nephews.

Three of the five Senators Russell D-Ga., Mead D-N.Y. and Lodge R-Mass., are members of the appropriations committee. Mead was commissioned by the Truman investigating group to look into several phases of lend lease, including the distribution of American goods to civilian populations abroad, and the question of postwar rights to foreign airfields built with American money.
"What the public does not know, but suspects," Butler said, "is that this lending program actually is an outright donation program, the most colossal dole of all time."
THERE IS no substitute for newspaper advertising.

DAR Chapter Honors Its Regents and Votes Participation In Many Services

Regent's Day of General Joseph Warren Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held Thursday with a one o'clock luncheon at the YWCA activities building, honored not only the presiding regent, Mrs. Leon Laskaris, but those who served as regents in the past.
Following a beautifully appointed luncheon for which Mrs. A. F. Kottcamp asked grace, Mrs. Laskaris welcomed the guests and called upon the following past regents for greetings: Mrs. F. C. Eaton, Mrs. Wilson Waters, Mrs. W. E. Lutz, Mrs. W. R. Carlin. Those unable to be present were Mrs. R. L. Young, Miss Harriette Rogers and Mrs. A. H. Wickstrom. The guests included Mrs. John G. Albright, of Cleveland, visiting her sister, Mrs. F. L. Plummer, while en route to a new home in Rhode Island, and Miss Pemberton, of Fredonia, N. Y. Concluding, Mrs. Laskaris thanked Mrs. Plummer and her committee for the pretty flag-decorated luncheon table and other arrangements.
Hostesses for this month were Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. C. P. DeLong, Mrs. Mary Kirwin, Miss Eva Pelton, Mrs. W. H. Rawson, Miss Harriette Rogers and Mrs. W. H. Waters.
Adjourning to the parlors, Mrs. Laskaris opened the meeting by reading the aims of the organization and on the pre-induction party for which the chapter was hostess. The unit's participation in the four projects of the national society—blood plasma work, buddy bags, war bonds and stamps and war service records—was discussed.
Members stood a moment in silent tribute to a deceased member, Mrs. Clara A. Ghering, after which the regent and chaplain conducted a ceremonial welcoming three new members: Mrs. Fred Wendelboe, Mrs. Howard Norris and Mrs. Jessie Swain Girling.

The body has been removed to the Peterson Funeral Home and it is likely commitment will take place tomorrow.

EDWARD KELLY
Funeral services in memory of Edward Kelly were held at two o'clock yesterday afternoon at the family home in Clarendon, conducted by Rev. Jesse Knapp, of the Clarendon Methodist church. Mrs. Clara Nielsen sang "Resignation", with accompaniment by Miss Joyce Barnes. Interment was made in Oakland cemetery with Alvin, Merle and Marion Albaugh, Willis Mead acting as bearers.

Those who came from away were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mohney and children, of Kane.

Indications that Pennsylvania's 1943 is likely to continue are on all-time high egg production for a record number of chicks were hatched in commercial hatcheries of the state during the first eight months of the year.

FUNNY BUSINESS . . . . . By Hershberger

Personal Paragraphs

Mrs. Clair A. Neal and daughter Virginia Gorman left this morning for Nashville, Tenn., to spend some time with Sergeant Clarence A. Neal who is serving in the medical corps.

It will interest friends here to know that Mrs. Ida Arters has sold her farm at Bear Lake and moved to 281 Prospect street, Meadville. Living with her there is her son, Lynn J. Pierce, who is employed by the Erie Railroad Company.

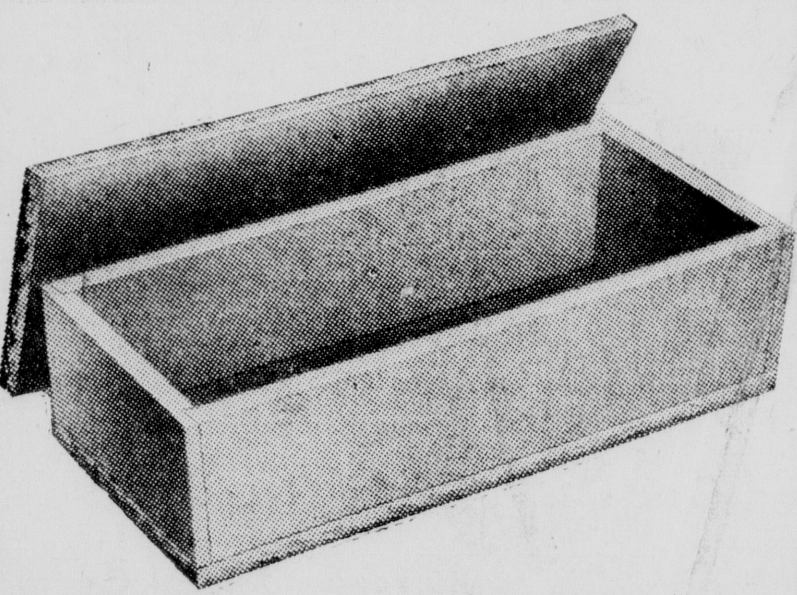

Expected home over the weekend are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Yeager, Conewango avenue, who have been in Harrisburg to attend the sixth annual institute of the Pennsylvania Chapter, American Industrial Bankers' Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Olander, of Irvine, accompanied by the latter's sister, Miss Anne Marie Royek, of Corry, will leave this evening for Shamokin to visit their aunt, Mrs. Mary Tobias, and family for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Foster, Pleasant township, have had word from their daughter, Miss Jean, that she is starting an engagement at the Statler Hotel in Washington, D. C., as vocalist and guitarist with Cal Gifford's Society Band, of which she has been a member for the past six months. Miss Jean has been vacationing with her sister, Miss Betty, in New York for the past two weeks, having completed an all-summer engagement with the band at Virginia Beach, Va.

BURIAL VAULTS

Your tribute to the deceased should be one that you can pleasantly remember.

The experience of many years has proven that the natural stone burial vault is one that will successfully stand the test of time.

When you provide a burial vault of natural stone, you will derive great solace from the knowledge that the final resting place of your departed loved one will be protected within the sturdy walls of a stone tomb.

We kindly invite you to consult cemetery officials when in need of information regarding burial vaults.

Lt. Commander Quay McCune Has Thrilling Experience On Fishing Expedition In West

In the Tacoma, (Wash.) Sunday Ledger

They dug some pile worms so they could catch some poggies so they could catch some dog fish for shark bait—all of which led to the thrill of a lifetime for Lt. Comdr. Quay McCune who, with his four hosts, pulled in two 13 foot fighting mud sharks from a deep hole off Gibson point, Fox island.

But they didn't pull the sharp toothed, ugly, finny creatures into the boat with them, for the skiff was hardly any longer than the mud sharks and the bulky "catches" weighed upwards of 1,000 pounds each. They actually made two expeditions to get the pair and almost dragged in a third that bit in two the clothesline wire leader and got away. A chain was used as a leader on the second trip.

The navy officer's companions were

Maury Hunt, purser of the Fox island ferry, and his son Ward; Gordon Meredith, Fox islander who is a member of the McChord field crash boat detail at Point Defiance, and Carl Forsbeck, Jr., young son of the city engineer.

Lt. Comdr. McCune, a flight surgeon from Warren, Pa., has been living with his family at the Forsbeck summer home on Fox island. A sportsman himself, he learned the pleasures of snaring some of the fightingest salmon ever caught in these waters and was just ripe for something bigger when Purser Hunt stepped into the picture.

Just the Spot

He knew just the spot—that deep hole about a half mile out toward McNeil island from the southern end of Fox island. He went into a huddle with Meredith and the two cooked up a dish that would make any salt water angler's mouth water. Of course, it took some time for the two boys in the party to dig some pile worms the day before the first expedition.

Then it was a matter of inducing the poggies to bite so they could be used as bait for the dog fish. When they had several choice dog fish, each about three feet long, they rigged up a large hook, about the size of a gaff hook, on a clothesline wire leader with a window sashweight as a sinker. Then the hooked this outfit up to a 550 foot rope and were off to the "shark banks."

They let the line out full length before the sinker reached bottom. The first "strike" snatched the middle right out of the dog fish bait, leaving only the head and tail. Things started to get exciting then, as they pushed the head and tail together and dropped line again.

Soon came the second strike. It wasn't the jolt that had been expected, but the mud shark was hooked securely this time. The real surprises were to come later as the navy officer and the two men took turns at pulling in the long line hand over hand.

After about 40 minutes of this up and down fight the victim was tired out, gave up the struggle and was completely quieted with a blow before having a chance to revive again. The first expedition was made in the 14 foot boat alone. The sportsmen learned later that a few years ago a mud shark really got mad out there and bashed in the side of his captor's skiff. So on the second trip they took along a larger boat and divided the party.

Both mud sharks were pulled in from the 14 footer, however. Snaring the second one was virtually the same story all over again. Each was towed to the Hunt farm where the carcasses are decomposing in a compost pile to be used as fertilizer. The teeth were pulled out for the captors to keep as souvenirs.

Other catches of the last expedition included an ugly rat fish, well named, and a three foot ling cod that put up a good battle. Sharking has its thrills, for it's something different, but when it comes to the real sport of angling, the flight surgeon said he thought he preferred fishing for a fightin' Puget Sound salmon every time.

It was a great experience, though, and he wouldn't have missed it for anything. He likes a good fight, for he was a football player at Franklin and Marshall college, his alma mater. Mud

Boat Ships Water

The big fish got ahead of them, then gave a lurch and plunged downward. The boat bobbed like a cork and took water. He repeated those tactics several times, each jerk coming as a surprise before the angler had time to loosen up on the line. Several times it looked as though the shark would cause the boat to capsize.

This 13 foot mud shark snared in waters near Tacoma threatened to capsize its captors' boat and gave Lt. Comdr. Quay McCune the thrill of a lifetime that his four Fox island companions had promised him. Don't get the ideas they weren't thrilled, too, especially when the boat dipped water. A second shark about like the one above also, was pulled in on one of two expeditions. The ling cod held by the flight surgeon was one of the side catches.

Through typographical error it was incorrectly stated in last night's edition that Mrs. Melvin Keller had been installed as president of the local American Legion Auxiliary. The new head is Mrs. Melvin Johnson, who has served the organization most efficiently for the past two years and has always been active in every phase of the unit's activity.

HAZELTINE DIVISION

The Isabelle Hazeltine Division of the First Methodist WSCS met in the E. D. Everts room last evening. Mrs. Claude McMillan in charge of devotions and Mrs. L. J. Holmes reading a paper on "Latin America and Her Common Heritage". Soloist was Miss Marcia Baxter with Miss Meredyth Young as accompanist. To conclude, Mrs. R. W. Hunter and her committee served refreshments.

FOR MISS KINTON

Miss Grace Kinton, who came to Warren General Hospital recently as assistant director and is leaving tonight for another position in New York, was given a farewell and handkerchief shower when Miss Lucilla McLaughlin entertained a group of hospital friends at her home on Fourth avenue. Cards and refreshments featured the entertainment.

He knew just the spot—that deep hole about a half mile out toward McNeil island from the southern end of Fox island. He went into a huddle with Meredith and the two cooked up a dish that would make any salt water angler's mouth water. Of course, it took some time for the two boys in the party to dig some pile worms the day before the first expedition.

Then it was a matter of inducing the poggies to bite so they could be used as bait for the dog fish. When they had several choice dog fish, each about three feet long, they rigged up a large hook, about the size of a gaff hook, on a clothesline wire leader with a window sashweight as a sinker. Then the hooked this outfit up to a 550 foot rope and were off to the "shark banks."

They let the line out full length before the sinker reached bottom. The first "strike" snatched the middle right out of the dog fish bait, leaving only the head and tail. Things started to get exciting then, as they pushed the head and tail together and dropped line again.

Soon came the second strike. It wasn't the jolt that had been expected, but the mud shark was hooked securely this time. The real surprises were to come later as the navy officer and the two men took turns at pulling in the long line hand over hand.

After about 40 minutes of this up and down fight the victim was tired out, gave up the struggle and was completely quieted with a blow before having a chance to revive again. The first expedition was made in the 14 foot boat alone. The sportsmen learned later that a few years ago a mud shark really got mad out there and bashed in the side of his captor's skiff. So on the second trip they took along a larger boat and divided the party.

Both mud sharks were pulled in from the 14 footer, however. Snaring the second one was virtually the same story all over again. Each was towed to the Hunt farm where the carcasses are decomposing in a compost pile to be used as fertilizer. The teeth were pulled out for the captors to keep as souvenirs.

Other catches of the last expedition included an ugly rat fish, well named, and a three foot ling cod that put up a good battle. Sharking has its thrills, for it's something different, but when it comes to the real sport of angling, the flight surgeon said he thought he preferred fishing for a fightin' Puget Sound salmon every time.

It was a great experience, though,

Harris Signs As Manager of Buffalo Team

BY WATSON SPELSTRA
Detroit, Oct. 15.—(P)—Stanley Raymond Harris, the old American League trooper who didn't last a full season in the National League has prepared the way to return to the purlieu circuit by signing to manage Buffalo of the International League in 1944.

Buffalo is the principal minor league affiliate of the Detroit Tigers, and the studies reaction here to Harris' latest baseball move, announced yesterday in Buffalo, is that he may return to an important role in the Detroit organization. Harris managed the Tigers five seasons before Mickey Cochran replaced him in 1934.

Aside from polishing its best playing talent there, Detroit has made Buffalo a managerial proving ground. Steve O'Neill, who just finished his first season as Tiger pitcher, managed Buffalo three years ago and Al Vincent spent two years there before Detroit moved him up as O'Neill's aide.

The Tigers have made no announcement on O'Neill's future but they are believed to be planning to sign him for 1944 at the major league meetings in December.

Bucky Harris, now nearly 47 years old, came to Detroit 15 years ago from Washington, where he had made fame as the "boy manager."

At Buffalo it was announced that Harris would receive the largest salary ever paid by the club and that there also was a bonus agreement. For several years the Tigers have had a strong working agreement with the Bisons.

If you have, it means I am on the trail of saboteurs who concocted a nation-wide plot to wreck my career as a football forecaster. Let me give you a bit of a fill-in—har-rumph!

Two weeks ago I predicted Minnesota would defeat Nebraska by the tidy margin of 54 to 0. Imagine my chargin when my prognostication was printed in newspapers all over the country as

In the Wake of MURDER

By ADELINE McELFRESH
Chapter 23
"YES, Miss Carter, it is serious," Dr. Alvin Jay said. "We'll do all we can but, frankly, your aunt has had a nasty time of it."

He went on, using medical terms that Jane did not understand, explaining the exact nature of the wound.

When he finished, Jane asked: "Tell me the truth, Doctor Jay. What are her chances?"

The doctor shook his head. "Pretty slim," he admitted. "But Mrs. Black has a remarkable constitution. I've been her physician for years."

"Yes, I know. Do you think she struck her head in falling?" Dr. Jay hesitated. Something in his eyes made Jane uneasy.

"It's possible, of course," he said slowly, "but I think not. Miss Carter, I'm going to suggest police investigation into this case."

Jane stared at him, astonished, written in every feature. She couldn't believe it.

"You mean . . ." Her voice floundered into a hopeless silence. Jay nodded emphatically. "Yes, I do. Definitely."

Too shocked to speak, Jane watched him fill out a report sheet and ring for a nurse.

"I'm sorry, my dear," he told Jane, "but there is nothing I can do. We doctors . . ."

"Forgive me, Doctor Jay," Jane finally found her tongue. "It's just that I can't believe it. Why, Aunt Ella was so sweet to everyone. I just can't think that anyone would do such a thing!"

The doctor smiled benignly. "This wasn't his first encounter with a skeptical relative. Jane slipped into her coat. "Well," she said, "let me know as soon as there is a change. I'm going over to the Chronicle office. Uncle Ed may be there."

BUT Black had not returned. Mike Patrick, when Jane asked him, said he supposed the editor was out at the fire.

"Mike," Jane sat on the edge of his desk, "is there anything I can do? Answer telephones or something? I'll go crazy if I just wait."

"Everything is under control here, Jane," Patrick told her. "The coffee was being poured into large kegs and loaded into a truck. Sandwiches, packed in big boxes, likewise were stowed aboard. Then Jane and Mary climbed in beside the driver and they were off.

"Here we are, girls," the driver announced, a short time later, stopping, the truck just behind the sweating, tiring line of workers.

He helped them set out their equipment, stood the huge kegs of coffee on a table, unpacked the sandwich boxes, set out the cups. Then they were ready.

"Come and get it," he yelled. Jane watched the men fall out, a few at a time, the others fanning out to take their places. It was as though every man knew when he would be served. There was no confusion. Not a motion was lost.

Then there was no time to think. The weary, begrimed men were filing past the table, their smoke-redened eyes expressing their thanks.

MARY passed out the sandwiches and Jane presided at the coffee kegs. She pressed the spigot and passed the brimming cup to the waiting man and went on to the next. Endlessly, they came. But no Brad. Jane's heart sank. So Uncle Ed had been right. Brad Forrester was an impostor. By now he probably was getting out.

I won't think about it, she thought. I can't! Some of the men attempted to joke with their neighbors, but their efforts fell flat. No one had the energy left to waste on light chatter. For most it was an effort to put one foot in front of the other.

But one bit of conversation caught Jane's ear. "They didn't have a chance," a big man wearing a sergeant's insignia told another. "Damn!" "Who?" Jane handed him a cup.

"Some fellow was trapped. The boys said it was a guy named Ben Roberts," the soldier told her. "And the other?"

"Brad Forrester. Hey . . .!" The sergeant dropped his cup and sprang around the table. Jane was dimly aware of his supporting arms as she slipped deeper and deeper into blackness.

so much of the time, she and Brad had trailed him and the blonde woman to Emerson, where they had lost the long black sedan in the foreign section. The blonde woman had been at the powder plant explosion, too. Even at the funeral, when Brandt had been driving that long black sedan, she had not known.

And Ed Black had been the only other person, outside of Brad and herself, who knew of that letter! "I should have known," Brad. Jane said simply. "I didn't tell you enough. When I think of telling Uncle Ed about that letter and causing Mr. Billingsley's death . . . Oh, Brad, how could he?"

That last was almost a wall. The strain of the last few days had been too much. Great, racking sobs shook Jane's body. "There, there, darling," Brad soothed. "It's all over now. We'll go away somewhere and forget all this."

We. Even in her sorrow, Jane noticed that. We'll go away, he had said. There was comfort—and strength—in the words.

And then suddenly the memory of Joe Masters leaped into her mind. But somehow it wasn't the same memory—the one that had kept telling her there could be no other man—the memory that had been forcing her to battle with herself.

She knew, now, that a girl could love twice, and just as deeply.

BRAD would be leaving soon, going on to a new and perhaps more dangerous assignment. But we've got our lives ahead of us, her heart sang. Just one long honeymoon, Brad and I. Mrs. Brad Forrester. It's a nice name.

"The fire?" Jane forced her thoughts back to reality. "We've got it licked." Pride was in Brad's tone. "And don't ask me how Roberts and I escaped. You wouldn't believe me, darling."

Jane smiled. "And Aunt Ella?" "Chippie as you please, everything considered. She's pretty upset. She confronted him with her information—well, he couldn't risk detection, so he took steps."

Jane closed her eyes. She didn't want Brad to see the new pain that was so much worse than the other.

Rabbit Show Sunday At Youngsville

The Warren County Domestic Rabbit Association would like to draw attention to the article which appeared in this paper earlier this week, in regard to the show which the organization is sponsoring. The show will be held indoors at Youngsville Island Park, October 17th. The public is cordially invited. Admission is free.

As stated in the preceding announcement, the association would like to have everyone who is raising rabbits enter their stock. You need not belong to the association, nor need you join later, in order to enter your animals; but the organization would like to have those interested make application for membership in the Warren County Domestic Rabbit Association, of which the primary purpose is to further the interests of the industry throughout this region.

By combined efforts the results throughout this section can be greatly strengthened and magnified in placing the Domestic Rabbit on a level equal to that held by the other animal industries.

There will be a 10c entry fee per rabbit, but a doe and entire litter can be entered for 10c provided the litter is under 2 months of age. All entries should be made by 10 o'clock in order to qualify your stock for the judging.

Bring one, ten, or twenty rabbits; but let's go to the show!

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove, Oct. 8.—About thirty-five of the friends of Rev. John McCleary, pastor of the Free Methodist church, surprised him Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Landin, in honor of his birthday. A delicious tureen supper was served and a social time enjoyed and a devotional service conducted. Mrs. Robert Mahan presented the guest of honor with a purse of money from those present. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnson and son Cecil of Mathews Run.

Joseph Thorpe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thorpe and husband of Mrs. Luella Thorpe left Thursday for service in the Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Landin received a telegram Tuesday evening from their son Robert Landin, seaman second class, informing them of his safe arrival in San Francisco, Calif., after a trip in the Pacific.

Mrs. Carleton Foss, Mrs. Margaret Endley, Mrs. Delmar Mickleson and Mrs. Roy Briggs were among those attending the W. S. C. S. convention at Warren Wednesday.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Norbeck were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Swanson and their aunt, Mrs. Mabel Smith of Meadville.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolmar Mickleson and daughter Phyllis, attended the Horse Show sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, at Meadville Saturday where Mr. Mickleson acted as one of the judges.

Mrs. Mabel Dallas left early Friday morning to attend the State W. C. T. U. convention at Lancaster, Pa.

NEW HEATING PLANT AT METHODIST CHURCH

A new boiler and coal stoker are being installed at First Methodist church and for that reason there will be no heat in the sanctuary on Sunday morning.

The morning worship service will be at the usual hour, 11 o'clock, and will last no more than 35 minutes. The congregation is being urged to recognize in this way the rugged faith of our forefathers who sat in unheated sanctuaries for two-hour preaching services; also our boys who worship God at divine services on the open decks of transport ships, on the blistering sands of the desert, on the icefields of the northland or in the dense, dark, damp equatorial jungles.

There will be no Sunday school but the Youth Fellowship will meet in the E. D. Everts room at 6:30 p. m. All other weekly activities will be in this same room, it is stated.

CONEWANGO UNION

Conewango WCTU members were entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Raymond Rapp, 8 Kenwood street, with a good attendance. President Bessie Johnson was in charge, with Edna Duff at the piano for group singing and Rev. J. C. Wygant in charge of devotions.

During the business routine, Mrs. Johnson reported for the auditing committee; also the resignation of Mrs. Gertrude Johnson as treasurer. This was accepted and proximately 95,000 cases of draft delinquents in this report.

No longer, says draft headquarters, can carelessness be considered a reasonable excuse. Henceforth, such delinquency must be considered as deliberate and offenders not only face summary induction but also the possibility of prosecution.
Selective service is setting out also to get minute details of the school histories of its registrants, including any record of truancy or abnormal absence because of illness, and how the boy got along with teachers and schoolmates.
All this is a part of a nationwide program designed to give information on the background of prospective fighters—their physical and mental health; educational, family and social histories, employment record and any prison record.
The purpose, selective service says, is two-fold: To reject those whose records indicate physical or mental breakdown, but at the same time to induct those, including borderline cases, where records indicate their ability to adjust themselves under conditions of stress.

LARGE GAIN REPORTED
IN DEFENSE WORKERS

Harrisburg, Oct. 15—(AP)—The State Defense Council today reported a gain of 41,952 in civilian defense volunteers has raised the state-wide enrollment to a new high of 1,619,268 persons.

All but 940 of the increase was credited to the war services branch of civilian defense, which now has a total membership of 990,917. In the air raid protection branch, air raid wardens continued as the largest single unit with a membership of 218,910, while auxiliary firemen were second with 67,531 members and auxiliary police third with 63,023 volunteers.

The council's salvage committee called on local and county councils to ask school children, when classes are closed Oct. 25, 26 and 27 for registration for Ration Book No. 4, to help in a campaign to boost steel and iron scrap collections.

Opening Meeting of War Fund Campaign Monday
their last minute instructions and information as well as their specific soliciting assignments.
It has been decided that no meals will be served at either of the four campaign meetings, in order to avoid food rationing difficulties and to keep the expense of the campaign as low as possible. However, a selective program of music will be played by the High School band. Allen Gibson, county chairman, expects a large delegation to attend the meeting from the many committees in the county area.

A large thermometer will soon be in place on the Metzger-Wright building at the corner of Liberty street and Second avenue, and will carry the daily report of the progress of the campaign. It is expected to be the center of attraction for the entire county.

LICENSES AVAILABLE
IN SOME COUNTIES
Harrisburg, Oct. 15—(AP)—Denying rumors that many residents of counties where antlerless deer may be bagged this year will be unable to obtain the necessary permits, Ross L. Leffler, president of the game commission, said yesterday plenty of licenses are available in all but Warren and Sullivan counties.

Antlerless deer may be hunted December 13, 14 and 15 in Warren, Sullivan, Clinton, Lycoming, Tioga, McKean, Potter and Cameron counties.

"If the resident hunters in the antlerless deer counties desire to hunt in the county in which they reside and will promptly file their applications at Harrisburg, I feel confident they can secure them, except in the two counties that are exhausted," Leffler said.

MAKING BIG FILL

At the plant of the G. G. Greene Company, Pennsylvania avenue, west a big fill is being made preparatory to building an addition to the plant of the company. Scores of loads of earth are being dumped into the swampy land there. The earth is being secured from the gravel bank at the head of Dartmouth street and trucked to the West End. The Greene Company is engaged in war work and the demands upon it are such that plans for an addition to the plant have been approved.

Let the cold winds blow as hard as they will, you will not feel it with this coat on, as the chamois inter lining gives you full protection. The cuffs of this same interlining are knit so no wind can possibly go up your sleeve. Then let a warm day come... and you just unbutton this warm lining and take it right out, leaving you with a light-weight sport coat lined in rayon satin. A coat that will wear you for years and always look smart and new.

From year to year it goes on, this fleece coat. So perennial a favorite has it become that it is now what fashionists term a "classic". That means, first of all, smartness. Second, sensible serviceability. Third, suitability for all sorts of places and conditions. Finally, year-to-year fashion-rightness which will disappear only on that far day when the "classic" wears out (if it ever does). This model has curvilinear saddle pockets smartly row-stitched, and three heavy leather-like buttons.

Everyone is going to dress warmer this year with homes and offices kept at a lower temperature. You will need just this type of dress. A "classic" in its simple lines, but also a dress that will meet any situation and come out right on top. Pictured is a model of 69% wool and 31% rabbits hair, in a luscious coral shade. Other models of 100% wool in both two and one piece styles. All in Fall leaf colors.

ALLIES SCORE DECISIVE GAINS IN ITALY

BRITISH MAKE NEW LANDING AT VOLTURNO

Main Forces of Fifth Army Pour Across River Into Newly Won Bridgeheads

RESISTANCE IS BITTER

BULLETIN
London, Oct. 15.—(P)—The German radio said today that German forces in Italy had evacuated Campobasso on the main Teramo-Vinchiaturo highway after embittered street fighting in the outskirts and in the town itself. The broadcast said four infantry and one tank divisions under Gen. Clark were attacking along the Voltorno.

By NOLAN NORGARD
Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Oct. 15.—(P)—The main forces of the Allied Fifth Army poured across the Voltorno river into newly won bridgeheads today, and discharges from Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's battle headquarters said the British and Americans were throwing the enemy back along the river front from the west coast to the mountain backbone of Italy.

The message telling of decisive gains all along the front in the course of furious and bloody fighting was received after an Allied headquarters communique had disclosed that British infantry and tanks had landed from British vessels on the north side of the Voltorno's mouth early Wednesday simultaneously with a frontal assault across the stream by American and British infantry and engineers.

Rolling up the enemy's coastal anchor, this amphibious force quickly dug in positions along a canal, while British naval guns elched steel into the strong German defense positions behind the coastal railroad line on high ground four miles north of the river.

While the British destroyers Lavey and Lookout and the Netherlands gunboat Flores hurled tons of explosive into the hills, a terrific fight raged along the coast. The Germans obviously had been uneasy over the possibility of such a landing—the first amphibious operation undertaken by the Fifth Army since its original arrival on the Salerno beaches—and had concentrated huge artillery groups in the dominating heights and in the river ground.

Meanwhile, American troops stormed the heights northeast of Capua in the face of deadly German resistance and consolidated their hold on the high ground screening the all-important Capua bridgeheads where the major body of the Fifth Army was streaming into the offensive.

(A German broadcast had today the Allies had "superior infantry and tank forces on both sides of Capua.")

Axis Powers Send Protest To Portugal

London, Oct. 15.—(P)—Germany and Japan protested to Portugal today over the granting of bases in the Azores to the British, and the Nazis angrily served notice that they deserved the right to take retaliatory action.

Germany left unstated, however, whether she would go so far as to declare war on the Portuguese.

In announcing the protest, the Berlin radio called Portugal's act "severe violation of neutrality." Berlin then reiterated its contention that the Lisbon government had been forced into concession under pressure—a theme the Germans have harped upon since the Anglo-Portuguese agreement was first announced.

Just what retaliation the Nazis could take remained to be seen, but it was considered doubtful that they would plunge Portugal to war because by so doing they could lose one of their most valuable listening posts and spy centers in Europe.

Washington, Oct. 15.—(P)—All 43 countries invited to the United Nations relief meeting in Atlantic City, N. J., next month have accepted, it became known today, and several will be represented by their prime ministers.

The Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation has practically completed the agenda for the meeting, which will start November 10 and probably will last four or five weeks.

One of the main problems to be threshed out is how to prevent distribution of relief from becoming a political weapon in the hands of returning governments-in-exile.

Observers here predict the meeting will produce results of concrete significance, in view of the importance of the delegates selected to attend.

COUNTERFEITER OF GAS STAMPS CAUGHT

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—(P)—The arrest in New York City of Dennis A. Hill, sought since Oct. 3 by federal agents after a raid on a printing shop here in which counterfeit gasoline coupons worth 10,000,000 gallons were seized, was announced early today by Myron M. Caffey, chief investigator for the Office of Price Administration.

Hill was sought on a warrant charging illegal manufacture, possession and transfer of federal ration currency. Caffey said he would be brought back to Philadelphia today.

The OPA investigator would not say how Hill was trailed, but reported that he offered no resistance when federal agents arrested him in a house in Harlem.

Greatest All-American Art On Exhibition In Pittsburgh

BY EUGENE COLLETT

Pittsburgh, Oct. 15.—(P)—American cities and farms, Niagara Falls and the Arizona mountains, skyscrapers and huts, crowds and empty streets, negroes and children, and bread and circuses . . . These are some of the subjects among the 304 paintings on display at the 1943 Carnegie Institute exhibition, after viewing which one of the judges, Francis Henry Taylor, director of the Metropolitan museum of art, said: "American art is growing up."

Though all the paintings were done in the United States in the last five years, war canvases are notably absent. The artists have turned from battle scenes, perhaps because the war is too new, and are painting their own countryside and its people recording the heartbeat of a nation.

An exception, perhaps, to the general trend of the show was the first prize winner, a portrait of Washington, Oct. 15.—(P)—Play hookey, bud, and you'll find yourself in a uniform.

Whether you did or didn't attend school regularly has turned out to be an important factor in what draft boards want to know when a man's number comes up for induction into the armed forces.

And men now in long pants were warned today that playing hookey at their advanced age isn't cricket, either. Selective service announced that those who play hookey with their draft obligations—by failing to notify their local board of address changes—will automatically be placed in I-A starting Nov. 1.

Retail Sales Tax Proposal Is Opposed

Washington, Oct. 15.—(P)—A counter-offensive opened up in congress today against a national retail sales tax, just as proponents were claiming enough strength to put through a 5 per cent levy.

President Philip Murray of the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) was invited before the house ways and means committee, now considering new tax legislation, after he had written Chairman Doughton (D-NC), as follows:

"In line with the aims of preserving health and efficiency standards, there should be no doubt of a quick rejection of all proposals for a sales tax or for (Turn To Page Eleven)

Lend-Lease Is Denounced As Colossal Dole

Senator Butler Renews Demand for Investigation of Entire Program

CALLED AS A WITNESS

Washington, Oct. 15.—(P)—The senate appropriations committee agreed informally today to investigate lend-lease operations in conjunction with the Truman investigating committee.

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) announced that the appropriations group had "substantially agreed" in an executive session to undertake the probe in response to demands from several senators.

A subcommittee composed of Senators Tydings (D-Md), Truman (D-Mo) and Nye (R-ND) was named to draft a resolution setting out the scope of the inquiry.

Senators Tydings and Nye joined in urging the appropriations committee to act despite earlier announcement that the Truman committee was engaged in examining some phases of lend-lease operations and would continue to do so.

Their recommendations led to the informal agreement to merge the efforts of the two groups.

BY DONALD HYNDMAN

Washington, Oct. 15.—(P)—Terminating lend-lease "the most colossal deal of all time," Senator Butler (R-Neb) today renewed his demand for an investigation of the whole program.

Butler was invited before the senate appropriations committee as it met to consider his eight-month-old resolution calling for a probe of what this country is sending abroad and what it is getting, or expects to get in return.

The resolution, once pigeonholed, was dusted off on the strength of information brought back by five senators who toured the World War fronts.

ROMMEL IS ASSIGNED TO YUGOSLAVIA

Two Important Victories In Widely Separated Sections Given As Answer to Appointment

MANY BITTER CLASHES

London, Oct. 15.—(P)—Yugoslav patriots have answered Adolf Hitler's reported appointment of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel as commander of operations in Yugoslavia with two important victories in widely separated sections of the country, a communique of the National Army of Liberation announced today.

Partisan columns, driven out of the Croatian coastal stronghold of Orhjenica and Kraljevica by German tank formations on Oct. 10, reformed and stormed the enemy's positions, and finally expelled them from both towns in hand-to-hand fighting, the communique reported. Both are now "firmly held" by Yugoslavs, added the bulletin, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio.

In Zenica, major industrial town in the heart of the "Bosnian Ruhr," 25 miles northwest of Sarajevo, Partisan groups and German troops are still engaged in house-to-house fighting, which has been going on for the past three days, the communique reported.

Further south units of the fourth Croat brigade were said to have retailed two German military trains at Visoko and Ilidze, near Sarajevo.

Bitter clashes also were reported near Lirskica, Bistrica, Ljubljana and Ajdovcina in Slovenia, while around Bakar Karlovas and Gospić only fighting of local importance was noted.

Rommel's appointment as chief of Nazi operations in Yugoslavia was announced by radio Berlin last night. An earlier Swiss report said he had been given command of all Nazi-occupied Italy, with Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring being "recalled" from his command of southern Italy after a quarrel with Rommel.

There was no indication that Rommel would personally take over the Balkan command. It was indicated he would probably act in a supervisory capacity, with Field Marshal Baron Maximilian Von Weichs, recently named Balkan commander-in-chief, in active charge.

Great Dnieper Dam Reported Blown Up By Germans Before Retreating From Zaporozhe

Anti-Fascist Freed

Waters Sent Rolling Over Countryside In Attempt To Halt Russians

MELITOPOL IS ISOLATED

London, Oct. 15.—(P)—The waters of the great Dnieper dam—the largest in Europe—were sent rolling over the Russian countryside once more by German troops, the Berlin radio reported today in acknowledging their flight from Zaporozhe, their long-held southern keystone and guardian fortress of the Crimea.

News that the $110,000,000 Dneprostroy had been blown up by the enemy, indicated that they had succeeded in repairing it after the Russians destroyed its usefulness themselves, when falling back from the Dnieper in 1941 in what was called the greatest piece of self-sabotage of all time.

The gigantic dam is situated at the lower end of the Dnieper rapids, a few miles north of Zaporozhe and was considered one of the outstanding industrial achievements of the Soviet regime. Its waters generated power for the whole industrial area of the Ukraine and it has been said that "whoever controls the dam controls the whole southwestern Russian industry."

By blowing up the great dam, five miles northwest of Zaporozhe, the Germans evidently hoped to stall the Russian advance westward and to prevent the entrapment of garrisons in the Crimea, believed to number more than 100,000 troops. There was no confirmation from Moscow and it was not known whether the Russians would be able to transport their armies across the newly-flooded terrain to close the Crimean escape corridor.

Meanwhile Melitopol, 65 miles to the south, had been isolated by other Soviet columns and its fall was expected hourly the Russian communique indicated.

THREE PLANTS DAMAGED AT SCHWEINFURT

In Greatest Aerial Conflict Ever Fought Over Continent 103 Enemy Planes Are Downed

By HENRY B. JAMESON
London, Oct. 15.—(P)—Photographs revealed today that the giant Nazi ballbearing factory at Schweinfurt was obliterated by the terrific American heavy bomber assault that cost the Eighth Airforce 60 bombers and precipitated perhaps the greatest battle in aerial warfare.

At least 100 German fighters were downed by the Fortress sharpshooters and their thundering escorts in the attack yesterday. Two U. S. fighters failed to return from the two-hour battle that raged all the way from Europe's coast to the target and back again.

The reconnaissance photographs revealed the Schweinfurt's plants, where probably 50 per cent of the Nazi's war-vital roller bearings are produced, were wiped out by the precision-pattern crews who were told in advance that a successful blasting of the target might shorten the war by six months.

The fact that the Germans threw up "everything in the book" in defense of that vital industrial center indicated that they, too, considered the factories of the highest importance to the war effort.

"Without the slightest hesitation, I would say our boys encountered the stiffest and fiercest fighting opposition in the history of aerial warfare," an Eighth Airforce spokesman said.

"What we did to the Germans will be felt severely—and soon." "The number of Fortresses that participated in the raid was not disclosed, but it was described officially as 'large.'"

Despite the opposition, the American bombers splattered their bombs over all of the 72 acres of factory buildings housing one of Germany's most important centers for producing bearings—an essential for virtually every piece of mechanized war equipment.

"There ought to be ball bearings rolling all over Germany," said one crewman who watched hundreds of bombs pour into the target area.

The 60 heavy bombers announced officially as missing constituted the greatest loss ever inflicted upon the Allied air forces by the Nazis in a single raid.

Rites Planned For Prominent War Veteran

DISTINGUISHED RECORD

The body of Earl R. Small, prominent veterans' worker who passed away Thursday morning in the U. S. Naval Hospital in Philadelphia, will lie in state at Grace Methodist church from two until three o'clock Sunday afternoon, members of Dinsmoor-Schwung Post No. 631, Veterans of Foreign Wars, acting as guard of honor.

Funeral services there will be at three o'clock, conducted by Rev. Harold Knappenberger, with Dr. J. H. Clemens, retired pastor, assisting. Interment will be made in the family plot in Oakland cemetery. Friends may call at the family home, 208 Madison avenue, any time after seven o'clock this evening.

Mr. Small had been in poor health for the past six months and on August 28 went to Pocono Haven, near Mount Pocono, for rest and treatment. On September 17 his condition became much worse and he was taken to the naval hospital, where he was critically ill until the end.

Earl Russell Small, oldest son of the late James Andrew and Ida Arner Small was born at Nebraska and his boyhood and early manhood were spent in Forest county. After graduating from Clarion Normal School he taught for several years. He then became associated with the Edward A. Woods Agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society and was with them for nearly 40 years. In early days as an agent his office was at Sheffield. After the war he attended Carnegie Institute of Technology and on completion of the course became a special agent for the Equitable Company and was an authority on insurance problems.

In 1917, rather than wait for a commission to come through, he enlisted as a private in Company I, 112th Regiment, 28th Division, and later was raised to the rank of sergeant. He was in much heavy fighting, taking part in battles at Champagne-Marne, Aisne-Marne, Oise-Marne and Meuse-Argonne. On September 28, 1918, in company with Private Fred Schwung, he carried a wounded man from an exposed position under heavy fire. For this act of American both men received the Distinguished Service Cross. He also held the Purple Heart medal, as he was twice wounded. On August 25, 1918, he was shot in the knee but refused to be hospitalized. Later, on October 7, he was wounded in the right arm by an explosive bullet, which kept him in the hospital many months after the war closed.

Earl Small was a lifelong member of the Methodist church, uniting with the church at Nebraska in early boyhood. When his family moved to Warren in 1923, he transferred his membership to the Grace Methodist church, and throughout the years had been an active member, serving as trustee for many years.

He was a life member of the Army Navy Legion of Valor, chairman of their Foundation committee and a charter member of the Pittsburgh Chapter. He was associated with patriotic and civic affairs of Warren, took an active

MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

William Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Smith, Conewago avenue, left Wednesday evening for Greensboro, N. C., for cadet training in the army air corps. Twenty two other boys left with Cadet Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Perry, of Clarendon, have received word that son, Ned, has been promoted to Lt. (j. g.), U. S. N. R. Lt. Perry is stationed at Bunker Hill airport, Peru, Indiana.

James F. Masterson, signal man in the navy, is home on a short leave to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Masterson, Canton street.

Corporal Conrad Traub has written to his parents that he is serving in the Air Corps Signal Corps at Camp Pinedale, Fresno, Cal. His brother recently entering the service is an air corps cadet stationed at Greensboro, N. C.

Pfc. Benj. G. Clifton has arrived home from his post at Brentwood, L. I., to spend seven days furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Clifton.

James Short, Jr., has been transferred from Camp Pannin, Texas, where he took his basic training to Drexel Institute, Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Daugherty, of Russell, have been made very happy with news that their son, Aaron, who is a flight surgeon at Keesler Field, Miss., has just been promoted to captain.

Senior Senator Predicts War Fund Drive Will Be Success

Senator James J. Davis, Senior Senator from Pennsylvania, and member of the powerful senate finance committee, believes the Warren County War Fund campaign will go over the top.

Senator Davis, on the eve of the campaign, addressed a personal letter to Edward W. Johnson, general chairman, praising the county's sense of patriotic responsibility and expressing his good wishes to every worker in the drive.

Red Cross Sponsors Courses In Swimming and Life Saving

Beginning November 1st, Warren County Chapter of the American Red Cross will provide instruction in various types of swimming and life saving. Classes will be held three nights a week in the Y. M. C. A. pool which has been made available.

Basic swimming will be taught on Mondays and an adult class for non-swimmers or novices will be conducted for men or women 20 years or older. There is no time limit on this course as ability and accomplishment are the measure of this basic swimming course.

Functional swimming will be taught on Wednesday nights and Life Saving and Junior and Senior Advanced Swimming on Friday nights. These courses will cover a 20-week period and one hour or more will be devoted to each evening's work. Junior Life Saving is offered to boys and girls between the ages of 12 to 16 and covers 15 hours of instruction.

Local Grange Planning For Jolly Evening

Warren Grange, No. 1025, has plans well under way for a jolly evening to follow initiation ceremonies next Wednesday evening, October 20, and extends a cordial invitation to members of all surrounding units to come and participate in the fun of an old fashioned Halloween event.

REV. RUTLEDGE TO HAVE FIRST SERVICE

Word has just been received from Rev. Beecher Rutledge, of Owego, N. Y., that his first service as new rector of Trinity Memorial Episcopal church here will be celebration of the Holy Communion for All-Saints Day on Monday, November 1. Details of the service will be announced later.

Rev. Warren Will Deliver Fine Sermon

"The Sovereignty of Christ" will be the theme of the Rev. Harold C. Warren's sermon at the 11 o'clock service of First Presbyterian church Sunday. Jackson Barreille, choir director, has arranged for a duet "Watchman, What of the Night?" by Sergeant, to be sung by Russell Hammar and Walter Irwin. The choir anthem is "Now Let All The Heavens Adore Thee" by Bach. Mr. Barreille's prelude will be the "Andante Cantabile" from Fourth Symphony, by Widor.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

William H. Smith, Conewango avenue was one of a group of 26 cadets called to Erie on Wednesday and who left yesterday from Greensboro, N. C. Richard E. Miller, of Sheffield enlisted at Erie for service in the navy this week.

District Gov. Allan Scilly, of Sheffield paid an official visit to the Franklin Rotary Club this week. In speaking before the club he declared the time is ripe for all Rotary Clubs to assist in the constructive post-war planning as well as taking an active interest in the present war effort.

Lawrence Riley, of "Personal Appearance" and "Return Engagement" fame, is expected to arrive with his wife for a visit in Warren. En route here from their home in Wheeling, W. Va., they stopped off in Pittsburgh and latest advice is that they are still in that city.

EATING FOR BETTER HEALTH
Do you drive your car at night? Eat raw carrots and you'll be in less danger of an accident.
Do you tire easily? Better eat whole wheat bread.
Do you have rheumatism? You should use a lot of tomatoes, citrus fruits and raw cabbage.
Do you get colds easily? Be sure to eat lots of dairy products, green and yellow vegetables, liver and citrus fruits.

Do you want to keep beautiful always? Foods which contain the beauty vitamin include: lean meats, liver, kidneys, all vegetables, milk and eggs.
On Monday night, October 18 at the High School auditorium at 8:30 a program on the foods to eat for better health is being given by the Warren Medical Auxiliary as part of its annual Public Health Day observance. The Warren Pre-School Mothers' Clubs are using this program for their regular October meeting. Parent-Teacher Associations throughout the country are backing it.

After two short movies, "Hidden Hunger" and "Foods and Nutrition" Miss Arlene M. Schnure, Home Economics Advisor for Warren County Schools, will speak on "Foods for Your Family". She will show why certain foods are necessary for health, give hints on the best ways of serving them without loss of vitamin and mineral content, and show how these foods can be made most attractive to the family. A discussion period, dealing with personal food problems, will follow.
"Those who have studied with Miss Schnure know how valuable her lectures on nutrition are," said Mrs. William Ball, chairman of the Public Health Day committee. Those serving with her are: Mrs. T. J. Valone, Mrs. Robert Taylor, and Mrs. Ralph Otterbein.

DON'T FORGET FATHER
Cautioning mothers against paying attention to their children to the extent of neglecting their husbands, Dr. Louis E. Bisch, in an article in Your Life, has this to say about remembering those fathers who are away from home in the armed services:
"Be sure to keep his memory green in your children's minds. Especially are the younger children apt to forget quickly. Unless the absent one is mentioned often and with feeling, and you do all you can to keep him 'missed', your husband—their father—may become no more than an intellectual memory."
"A young mother of my acquaintance asks the children to help her brush their father's clothes every Saturday with the regularity of clockwork. While the four of them are performing this chore they talk of the picnics they had together, the romps in the field and woods, etc. That, at least, is one way of keeping the image as well as the authority of Dad alive."

RATIONS TAKEN
Those plastic tokens which the OPA plans to put out next year to facilitate making change with its new one-value ration coupons should be very convenient. They will, however, lead to certain difficulties which, presumably, the OPA has considered.
To a considerable extent they will break down the barriers between ration periods. A family that has coupons left over in one period can cash them into tokens, which can be tucked away for use when needed. This, in course of time, presumably will level off so as to do no great damage. But it will mean that millions of tokens will be "hoarded"—that is, kept out of circulation. It seems probable that the 900,000,000 original order will vanish almost overnight.

DON'T LOOK SAD
Herr Goebbels commands the German people not to talk of German defeats or even look depressed. Why worry, the Nazi Propaganda Ministry asks, because the Huns have evacuated more than 300,000 square miles of "debris" in Russia?
A year ago Nazi armies were battering the doors of Stalingrad, and Herr Hitler promised that the Volga city was about to fall. Now the Russians are surging back into White Russia. Literally millions of Germans lie dead beside those "heaps of debris in the east."

If Goebbels can force the home folks to refrain from talking about German defeats, from looking depressed, then we are wrong, and there is a super-race.

For the Lord thy God is a consuming fire, even a jealous God.—Deuteronomy 4:24.

Why do we seek God elsewhere? He whatever you see; He is wherever you move.—Lucan.

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — In the next few months, you are going to hear more about taxes than you have heard for years and I'm afraid a lot of it is going to be just plain unadulterated eyewash.
The reasons are complicated, but the simplest one is that next year is election year and our national legislators are not keen to anger any group of constituents with a brutal tax program. More difficult to understand is the Treasury's 10.5 billion dollar tax program, and Economic Stabilizer Fund M. Vinson's insistence that it go through as proposed.

Both Treasury Secretary Morgenthau and Vinson have made it pretty clear that they are not nearly so interested in revenue as in holding the line against inflation.
If that is true, their tax program should be just about three times what it is. Using round figures, the American people will get about $150,000,000,000 in their pockets this fiscal year. If they buy everything in sight, they can't spend more than about $90,000,000,000 of it. That leaves a surplus of $60,000,000,000. Existing taxes (of all types) and war bonds will draw off something more than $35,000,000,000 of that. That leaves $25,000,000,000 that might be diverted into inflationary channels.

The Treasury, Vinson and the Administration say that 10.5 billions of it will have to be skimmed off if the nation is to be saved from inflation. Tax leaders in Congress say no more than four or five billions will have to be dragged out of that kitty.

There's even a definite underground move in Treasury circles to abandon the bla-bla about the patriotism of buying war bonds and sell them for just what they are, one of the best investments that any government has offered.

That there will be a tax increase goes without saying. That it won't be anything like what the Treasury has asked for and Vinson backed is also almost a certainty. Best guesses here now are that Congress will try for their four or five billions along the same old line.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — Gypsy Rose Lee should have been on the set of "Knickerbocker Holiday" today. She'd have seen a strip tease dated nearly 300 years before her time, in the New York days of old Peter Stuyvesant.

Nelson Eddy was in jail. Constance Dowling was kissing him through the bars, and Percy Kilbride, the jester, was expressing his helpless disapproval of such goings-on by yanking off Miss Dowling's skirt and petticoats, seven of them, one by one.

It made for a gay morning on the set—gay for everybody but Percy Kilbride, who worked hard but showed little proficiency at petticoat-yanking. Kilbride (remembered for his comedy with Jack Benny in "George Washington Slept Here") looked glummer and more frustrated than usual as he tugged at the layers of petticoating. Miss Dowling was leaning through a break in the bars, ignoring the yanking of the jester.

"It's against the rules," Kilbride would warn futilely as the romancing went on. Then he would tug, and another petticoat would fall away.

BUT the tugging had to be done on cue, and Kilbride had to remember his lines, his cue, and his tugging all at once. With one thing and another, there were only two petticoats off by noon, with five to go. Very inefficient peeling by today's Gypsy Rose standards, but quite rare for the day.

HE CHUCKLES. "Did you hear about Arthur (Lubin, the 'Phantom' director) after he saw my first rushes? He came out, rubbing his hands. He told me that after M-G-M saw what they'd done with me at Universal, M-G-M would be sending for him right away to direct some pictures there."
"Well, I've just heard the rest of that story, and it gives Arthur the last laugh. 'Phantom' is cleaning up (which I suppose justifies the black wig and everything else) and sure enough, M-G-M did send for him."

ONE PER CENT—is U. S. war slang used when a soldier borrows $1 and agrees to pay back $2 on next payday. Uncle Sam can't pay 2 for 1 but the Treasury does agree to give four for three invested in War Bonds. So buy an extra $100.00 Invasion Bond in September.

—SUNDAY SERVICES IN WARREN CHURCHES—

CHURCH NOTES

The 67th anniversary of the Mission church at Busti will be observed Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, when a choir from Jamestown will sing and Pastor P. Elmer Landerdahl, of the local Bethlehem Congregational church, will speak. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested.

Special guest speaker at the 6:45 p. m. young people's meeting in Calvary Baptist church Sunday will be Rev. Elmer Landerdahl, pastor of Bethlehem Congregational church, and all age groups are invited.

Dr. Alfred B. Smith, former pastor of Grace Methodist church and father-in-law of Pastor Harold Knappenberger, will bring the evening message in the 7:30 service in Grace church Sunday night. Dr. Smith's many friends in Warren are cordially invited to attend this service.

At the 10:30 a. m. Sunday worship in St. Paul's Lutheran church, the sermon will be brought by Rev. Knute Erickson, of Rock Island, Ill., comptroller of Augustana College and Theological Seminary and at present synodical director of the Augustana centennial thank-offering, a nationwide project of the Augustana Synod looking toward the 100th anniversary of the synod in 1948. Members and friends are invited to hear him.

Services in Trinity Memorial church Sunday will begin with celebration of Holy Communion at 8 a. m., church school and Bible classes at 9:45 and morning prayer and sermon at 11, all in charge of Rev. William J. Millson, of Smethport.

Announcing his schedules for next week, Pastor Carl Gronquist of Sheffield and Ludlow Lutheran parishes reports the following: Moriah, Wednesday, 8 p. m., Lutheran Circle, Thursday, 8 p. m., Luther League, Bethany—Monday,

8 p. m., Men's Bible Class, Tuesday, 8 p. m., Young Women's Missionary Society, Wednesday, 7:30 p. m., board of administration, Thursday, 2:30 p. m., Ladies Aid; 8 p. m., choir rehearsal, Saturday, 9:45 a. m., confirmation instruction.

Pastor Wallace Johnson, of Chancellors Valley, announces that six young people will be received into church membership through confirmation at the 11:30 a. m. service Sunday. The young confirmands are David and Joyce York, Basil Abbey, Gordon Ristau, Phyllis Hendrickson and Benny Hoy.

School Music Booster Club Has Election

The School Music Boosters Club inaugurated its season Thursday evening in Betty school with William P. Taylor as president. Bert Marner as vice president and Mrs. N. K. Wendelboe, secretary-treasurer.

Harry Thurn, retiring president, opened the meeting by calling for reports and turning the session over to Mr. Taylor. Committee chairmen for the year were announced as follows: Membership, Mrs. Henry Bick; program, Mrs. William Erickson; refreshments, Mrs. A. J. Weller; publicity, Mrs. L. N. Schuler.

Director Harry Summers reported on band activities for September and October, showing the group has played for the usual games, for the War Bond rally, for the War Chest and Boosters meeting and the ensemble had been asked to play for teachers' institute and the PTA Council.

Chief item of business was the decision to have band instruments checked and placed in condition.

To conclude, Mr. Summers and the band members gave a demonstration and refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

Obituary

SAMUEL G. MILLER

Charles A. Miller, who has been in Vero Beach, Fla., for several weeks attending his brother, Samuel G. Miller, will arrive Monday morning with the body, removal to be made to the Lutz Funeral Home. Friends may call there from two until five and seven until nine on Monday and from ten until noon on Tuesday. Funeral services will be held there at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Wayne Furman and followed by interment in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Miller, who died at his home in Vero Beach on Thursday, was a former Warren resident. Born in Fulton, N. Y., May 2, 1868, he spent his youth and young manhood in Warren, working for several years as superintendent for the Seneca Oil Company and then going to California for three years in a similar capacity. About 1900 he went to the Cartagena oil fields in Colombia, South America, and remained there for eight years. Returning, he purchased an orange grove in Vero Beach and has made his home there for 30 years.

He leaves to mourn his passing two brothers and one sister, Charles E. and James S. Miller, with Mrs. H. G. Buerkle, all of Warren; also several nieces and nephews.

Lend-Lease Is Denounced As Colossal Dole

Three of the five Senators Russell D. Ga. Mead, D-N.Y. and Lodge R. Mass., are members of the appropriations committee. Mead was commissioned by the Truman investigating group to look into several phases of lend lease, including the distribution of American goods to civilian populations abroad, and the question of postwar rights to foreign airfields built with American money.

"What the public does not know, but suspects," Butler said, "is that this lending program actually is an outright donation program, the most colossal dole of all time."

DAR Chapter Honors Its Regents and Votes Participation In Many Services

Regent's Day of General Joseph Warren Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held Thursday with a one o'clock luncheon at the YWCA activities building, honored not only the presiding regent, Mrs. Leon Laskaris, but those who served as regents in the past.

Following a beautifully appointed luncheon for which Mrs. A. F. Kottcamp asked grace, Mrs. Laskaris welcomed the guests and called upon the following past regents for greetings: Mrs. F. C. Eaton, Mrs. Wilson Waters, Mrs. W. E. Lutz, Mrs. W. R. Carlin. Those unable to be present were

Mrs. R. L. Young, Miss Harriette Rogers and Mrs. A. H. Wickstrom. The guests included Mrs. John G. Albright, of Cleveland, visiting her sister, Mrs. F. L. Plummer, while en route to a new home in Rhode Island, and Miss Pemberton, of Fredonia, N. Y. Concluding, Mrs. Laskaris thanked Mrs. Plummer and her committee for the pretty flag-decorated luncheon table and other arrangements.

Hostesses for this month were Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. C. P. DeLong, Mrs. Mary Kirwin, Miss Eva Pelton, Mrs. W. H. Rawson, Miss Harriette Rogers and Mrs. W. H. Waters.

Adjourning to the parlors, Mrs. Laskaris opened the meeting by reciting the aims of the organization and with prayer by Mrs. Kottcamp. The Pledge of Allegiance, American's Creed and routine reports followed. Acting upon recommendations of the board, the chapter voted $85 for the Red Cross blood plasma fund, $5 to the County War Fund, $5 to the Red Cross camp and hospital fund, $2 to the Penny Pines Project and to convert its bronze marker fund into two War Bonds. Reports were given on the card party and rummage sale for the Red Cross Fund and on the pre-union party for which the chapter was hostess. The unit's participation in the four projects of the national society—blood plasma work, buddy bags, war bonds and stamps and war service records—was discussed.

Members stood a moment in silent tribute to a deceased member, Mrs. Clara A. Ghering, after which the regent and chaplain conducted a ceremonial welcoming three new members: Mrs. Fred Wendelboe, Mrs. Howard Norris and Mrs. Jessie Swain Girling.

Others called but not present were Mrs. W. H. Hegerty, Mrs. Benjamin Connelly, Mrs. Carlton Gay, Mrs. C. P. DeLong.

For the program, Mrs. Carlin and Mrs. Fred A. Schuler conducted a round table on the national magazine of the order, assisted by Mrs. Laskaris, Miss Harriette Eaton, Mrs. Lutz, Mrs. Plummer, Miss Ethel DeForest and Mrs. O. H. Baird. To conclude, Miss Hulda Angermann gave a reading, "The Defense of Long Island".

Lewis and Loree Rites Announced

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Loree, 405 West Fifth avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Jane, to Robert E. Lewis, of Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lewis, of Bryant, Ind.

The ceremony was performed in First Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. Friday, October 8, Rev. Wayne Furman officiating. Wedding music was by Miss Evelyn Wolstencroft, church organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore turquoise chiffon with velvet trim, yellow pompons in her hair and carried a Dutch colonial bouquet. Her only attendant, Irene L. Riggs, wore rose crepe trimmed in velvet, with orchid pompons in her hair and the same blooms in her Dutch bouquet. Mrs. Loree wore wine and aqua with black accessories and Mrs. Lewis' ensemble was black. Each had a rose corsage.

Ralph T. Loree and Franklin A. Riggs were ushers and John Nordine was best man.

Players' Drama Enthusiastically Received Thurs.

An audience which had been held spellbound through three exciting acts of a rapidly moving court room drama at the Woman's Club last evening heartily applauded the verdict of the jury when it returned to the stage after only a brief deliberation.

The verdict was the climax to the trial held to determine guilt or innocence of Karen Andre in the murder of Bjorn Faulkner on "The Night of January 16th," first full production of the Warren Players' Club and an auspicious beginning for the new season which will offer four public productions.

The jury, selected from the audience, was composed of Guinevere Knapp, L. A. Carlson, Dr. Jane E. Dunaway, Mrs. Anthony Valone, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Johnston, Wanda Hoskins, Mrs. Hans Link, Mrs. F. W. Mostert, Carl Nelson, with R. W. Steber as the foreman.

Too much cannot be said concerning the plot of the drama, which is based on certain facts from the fall of the Kreuger empire a few years ago, since unexpected details are one of the best features of the production. However, those who are familiar with Players' performances will not want to miss the second performance when the curtain goes up at 8:30 this evening.

In last night's audience were several visitors from Jamestown, including Miss Regina Ahlstrom, who had the role of Magda Svenson when the Little Theatre gave the play; Mrs. Helen Carr, cast as Karen Andre in that city, and Miss Catherine Scharf. They were most enthusiastic concerning the play and the wealth of talent among Players' members.

JUANITA ENNER
(Special to Times-Mirror)

Private funeral services were held October 8 at the Sage Funeral Home in Tidioute for Juanita Enner, of North East who died October 5 at the home of her sister, Mrs. G. C. Gelknap in Buffalo, N. Y. Interment was in the family plot in Tidioute cemetery with six nephews as bearers: Albert and Frederick Benner, Tidioute; Charles and Robert Kenap, Buffalo; Russell and Ernest Gustafson, Tidioute and Oil City.

Out of town relatives attending were Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Gelknap, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Benner and son, George, Buffalo; Mrs. Philip T. Benner, Miss Mary Benner, Warren; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Gustafson, Oil City.

Juanita Enner, daughter of the late Charles T. and Jennie T. Enner, was born May 15, 1889 in Tidioute. She attended grade school in Tidioute high school in Paducah, Ky., and Hoff Business College in Warren. She had traveled extensively, having spent some time in South America and a year in England, where she studied music. She was a talented musician in both voice and piano fields. For the past 15 years she had been employed in the office of the Electric Material Company in North East. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and Dr. W. J. Prout, of Tidioute church, had charge of the funeral service.

She leaves as sister, Mrs. Benner; two brothers, Frederick Benner, of St. Louis, Mo., and Robert Benner, of Buffalo; also several nieces and nephews.

MRS. GABLES MOORE
Mrs. N. Heasley Moore, wife of Charles Moore of Marienville, died at home there Wednesday, Oct. 13. She was born at Leeper on June 9, 1879.

Surviving are her husband, two sons, Mrs. Lily Simpson of Hill and Mrs. Clarence Moore of Marienville; and two daughters, Christ Heasley of Cy and Isaac Heasley of Leeper. Sons, Clifford and Guy, preceded her in death.

A funeral service will be held at 3:30 p. m. Saturday in the Greenwald Methodist church with Rev. E. J. Jennings of the Polk Methodist church, her former pastor, and Rev. E. Victor Korb of Lickingsville, officiating. Interment will be in the Greenwood cemetery.

Personal Paragraph

Mrs. Clair A. Neal and daughter Virginia Gorman left this morning for Nashville, Tenn., to spend some time with Sergeant Clarence A. Neal who is serving in the medical corps.

It will interest farmers here to know that Mrs. Ida Lake and son, moved to 281 1/2th her there Meadville. Living there is her son, Lynn, who is employed by the Erie Railroad Company.

Expected here over the weekend are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Yeager, Conewango, who have been in Harrisburg attending the sixth annual Pennsylvania American Industrial Bank Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Olander, of Irvine, accompanied by the latter's sister, Miss Anne Marie Royek, of Conewango, will leave this evening for Monroeville to visit their aunt, Mrs. Mary Tobias, and family for several days.

Ad Mrs. D. R. Foster, Pleasant township, have had word from their daughter, Miss Jean, that she is starting an engagement at the Statler Hotel in Washington, D. C., as vocalist and guitarist with Cal Gifford's Society, of which she has been a member for the past six months. Miss Jean has been vacationing with her sister, Miss Betty, in New York for the past two weeks, having completed an all-summer engagement with the band at Virginia Beach, Va.

School Music Booster Club Has Election

The School Music Boosters Club inaugurated its season Thursday evening in Beaty school with William P. Taylor as president, Bert Marrer as vice president and Mrs. N. K. Wendelboe, secretary-treasurer.

Harry Thurn, retiring president, opened the meeting by calling for reports and turning the session over to Mr. Taylor. Committee chairmen for the year were announced as follows: Membership, Mrs. Henry Bick; program, Mrs. William Erickson; refreshments, Mrs. A. J. Weiler; publicity, Mrs. L. N. Schuler.

Director Harry Summers reported on band activities for September and October, showing the group has played for the usual games, for the War Bond rally, for the War Chest and Boosters meeting and the ensemble had been asked to play for teachers' institute and the PTA Council.

Chief item of business was the decision to have band instruments checked and placed in condition.

To conclude, Mr. Summers and the band members gave a demonstration and refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

Obituary

SAMUEL G. MILLER

Charles A. Miller, who has been in Vero Beach, Fla., for several weeks attending his brother, Samuel G. Miller, will arrive Monday morning with the body, removal to be made to the Lutz Funeral Home. Friends may call there from two until five and seven until nine on Monday and from ten until noon on Tuesday. Funeral services will be held there at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Wayne Furman and followed by interment in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Miller, who died at his home in Vero Beach on Thursday, was a former Warren resident. Born in Fulton, N. Y., May 2, 1868, he spent his youth and young manhood in Warren, working for several years as superintendent for the Seneca Oil Company and then going to California for three years in a similar capacity. About 1900 he went to the Cartagena oil fields in Colombia, South America, and remained there for eight years. Returning, he purchased an orange grove in Vero Beach and has made his home there for 30 years.

He leaves to mourn his passing two brothers and one sister, Charles E. and James S. Miller, with Mrs. H. G. Buerkle, all of Warren; also several nieces and nephews.

Lend-Lease Is Denounced As Colossal Dole

Three of the five, Senators Russell D-Gal., Mead D-NY and Lodge R-Mass., are members of the appropriations committee. Mead was commissioned by the Truman investigating group to look into several phases of lend lease, including the distribution of American goods to civilian populations abroad, and the question of postwar rights to foreign air fields built with American money.

"What the public does not know, but suspects," Butler said, "is that this lending program actually is an outright donation program, the most colossal dole of all time."

DAR Chapter Honors Its Regents and Votes Participation In Many Services

Regent's Day of General Joseph Warren Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held Thursday with a one o'clock luncheon at the YWCA activities building, honored not only the presiding regent, Mrs. Leon Laskaris, but those who served as regents in the past.

Following a beautifully appointed luncheon for which Mrs. A. F. Kottcamp asked grace, Mrs. Laskaris welcomed the guests and called upon the following past regents for greetings: Mrs. F. C. Eaton, Mrs. Wilson Waters, Mrs. W. E. Lutz, Mrs. W. R. Carlin. Those unable to be present were

Mrs. R. L. Young, Miss Harriette Rogers and Mrs. A. H. Wickstrom. The guests included Mrs. John G. Albright, of Cleveland, visiting her sister, Mrs. F. L. Plummer, while en route to a new home in Rhode Island, and Miss Pemberton, of Fredonia, N. Y. Concluding, Mrs. Laskaris thanked Mrs. Plummer and her committee for the pretty flag-decorated luncheon table and other arrangements.

Hostesses for this month were Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. C. P. DeLong, Mrs. Mary Kirwin, Miss Eva Pelton, Mrs. W. H. Rawson, Miss Harriette Rogers and Mrs. W. H. Waters.

Adjourning to the parlors, Mrs. Laskaris opened the meeting by reciting the aims of the organization and with prayer by Mrs. Kottcamp. The Pledge of Allegiance, American's Creed and routine reports followed. Acting upon recommendations of the board, the chapter voted $85 for the Red Cross mobile fund, $5 to the County War Fund, $5 to the Red Cross camp and hospital fund, $2 to the Penny Pines Project and to convert its bronze marker fund into two War Bonds. Reports were given on the card party and rummage sale for the Red Cross Fund and on the pre-induction party for which the chapter was hostess. The unit's participation in the four projects of the national society—blood plasma work, buddy bags, war bonds and stamps and war service records—was discussed.

Members stood a moment in silent tribute to a deceased member, Mrs. Clara A. Chering, after which the regent and chaplain conducted a ceremonial welcoming three new members: Mrs. Fred Wendelboe, Mrs. Howard Norris and Mrs. Jessie Swain Gilling.

Others called but not present were Mrs. W. H. Hegerty, Mrs. Benjamin Connelly, Mrs. Carlton Gay, Mrs. C. P. DeLong.

For the program, Mrs. Carlin and Mrs. Fred A. Schuler conducted a round table on the national magazine of the order, assisted by Mrs. Laskaris, Miss Harriette Eaton, Mrs. Lutz, Mrs. Plummer, Miss Ethel DeForest and Mrs. O. H. Baird. To conclude, Miss Hulda Angermann gave a reading, "The Defense of Long Island".

Lewis and Loree Rites Announced

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Loree, 405 West Fifth avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Jane, to Robert E. Lewis, of Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lewis, of Bryant, Ind.

The ceremony was performed in First Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. Friday, October 8. Rev. Wayne Furman officiating. Wedding music was by Miss Evelyn Wolstencroft, church organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore turquoise chiffon with velvet trim, yellow pompons in her hair and carried a Dutch colonial bouquet. Her only attendant, Irene L. Riggs, wore rose crepe trimmed in velvet, with orchid pompons in her hair and the same blooms in her Dutch bouquet. Mrs. Loree wore wine and aqua with black accessories and Mrs. Lewis' ensemble was black. Each had a rose corsage.

Ralph T. Loree and Franklin A. Riggs were ushers and John Nordine was best man.

Players' Drama Enthusiastically Received Thurs.

An audience which had been held spellbound through three exciting acts of a rapidly moving court room drama at the Woman's Club last evening heartily applauded the verdict of the jury when it returned to the stage after only a brief deliberation.

The verdict was the climax to the trial held to determine guilt or innocence of Karen Andre in the murder of Bjorn Faulkner on "The Night of January 16th," first fall production of the Warren Players' Club and an auspicious beginning for the new season which will offer four public productions.

The jury, selected from the audience, was composed of Guinevere Knapp, L. A. Carlson, Dr. Jane E. Dunaway, Mrs. Anthony Valone, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Johnston, Wanda Hoskins, Mrs. Hans Link, Mrs. F. W. Mostert, Carl Nelson, with R. W. Steber as the foreman.

Too much cannot be said concerning the plot of the drama, which is based on certain facts from the fall of the Kreuger empire a few years ago, since unexpected details are one of the best features of the production. However, those who are familiar with Players' performances will not want to miss the second performance when the curtain goes up at 8:30 this evening.

In last night's audience were several visitors from Jamestown, including Miss Regna Ahlstrom, who had the role of Magda Svenson when the Little Theatre gave the play; Mrs. Helen Carr, cast as Karen Andre in that city, and Miss Catherine Scharf. They were most enthusiastic concerning the play and the wealth of talent among Players' members.

JUANITA BENNER
(Special to Times-Mirror)
Private funeral services were held October 8 at the Sage Funeral Home in Tidioute for Juanita Benner, of North East, who died October 5 at the home of her sister, Mrs. G. C. Gelknap, in Buffalo, N. Y. Interment was in the family plot in Tidioute cemetery with six nephews as bearers: Albert and Frederick Benner, Tidioute; Charles and Robert Gelknap, Buffalo; Russell and Ernest Gustafson, Tidioute and Oil City.

Out of town relatives attending were Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Gelknap, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Belknap, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Belknap and son, George, Buffalo; Mrs. Philip T. Benner, Miss Mary Benner, Warren; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gustafson, Oil City.

Juanita Benner, daughter of the late Charles T. and Jennie T. Benner, was born May 15, 1889, in Tidioute. She attended grade school in Tidioute, high school in Paducah, Ky., and Hoff Business College in Warren. She had traveled extensively, having spent some time in South America and a year in England, where she studied music. She was a talented musician in both voice and piano fields. For the past 15 years she had been employed in the office of the Electric Material Company in North East. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and Dr. W. J. Prout, of Tidioute church, had charge of the funeral service. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Belknap; two brothers, Frederick Benner, of St. Louis, Mo., and Robert Benner, of Buffalo; also several nieces and nephews.

MRS. CHARLES MOORE
Mrs. Nina Heasley Moore, wife of Charles Moore of Marienville, died at her home there Wednesday. She was born at Leeper on June 9, 1876. She married Mr. Moore on April 12, 1896.

Surviving are her husband, two sisters, Mrs. Lily Simpson of Scotch Hill and Mrs. Clarence Moore of Marienville; and two brothers, Christ Heasley of Cy-clone and Isaac Heasley of Leeper. Two sons, Clifford and Guy, preceded her in death.

A funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in the Green-wild Methodist church with Rev. E. J. Jennings of the Polk Methodist church, her former pastor, and Rev. F. Victor Korb of Lick- ingville, officiating. Interment will be in the Greenwood cemetery.

HANNAH CRONHOLM
Miss Hannah Cronholm, who has been a resident of the Rouse Hospital at Youngsville for 60 years, died at 8:30 a. m. today in the Warren General Hospital, where she was brought a short time ago. The body has been removed to the Peterson Funeral Home and it is likely commitment will take place tomorrow.

EDWARD KELLY
Funeral services in memory of Edward Kelly were held at two o'clock yesterday afternoon at the family home in Clarendon, conducted by Rev. Jesse Knapp, of the Clarendon Methodist church. Mrs. Clara Nielsen sang "Resignation", with accompaniment by Miss Joyce Barnes. Interment was made in Oakland cemetery with Alvin, Marie and Marion Albaugh, Willis Mead acting as bearers.

Those who came from away were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mohney and children, of Kane.

Indications that Pennsylvania's 1943 is likely to continue are con- all-time high egg production for- tained in the announcement that a record number of chicks were hatched in commercial hatcheries of the state during the first eight months of the year.

Lt. Commander Quay McCune Has Thrilling Experience On Fishing Expedition In West

In the Tacoma, (Wash.) Sunday Ledger

They dug some pile worms so they could catch some poggies so they could catch some dog fish for shark bait—all of which led to the thrill of a lifetime for Lt. Comdr. Quay McCune who, with his four hosts, pulled in two 13 foot fighting mud sharks from a deep hole off Gibson point, Fox island.

But they didn't pull the sharp toothed, ugly, finny creatures into the boat with them, for the skiff was hardly any longer than the mud sharks and the bulky "catches" weighed upwards of 1,000 pounds each. They actually made two expeditions to get the pair and almost dragged in a third that bit in two the clothesline wire leader and got away. A chain was used as a leader on the second trip.

The navy officer's companions were salted Puget Sounders, Maury Hunt, purser of the Fox island ferry, and his son Ward; Gordon Meredith, Fox islander who is a member of the McChord field crash boat detail at Point Defiance, and Carl Forsbeck, Jr., young son of the city engineer.

Lt. Comdr. McCune, a flight sur-

This 13 foot mud shark snared in waters near Tacoma threatened to capsize its captors' boat and gave Lieut. Comdr. Quay McCune the thrill of a lifetime that his four Fox island companions had promised him. Don't get the ideas they weren't thrilled, too, especially when the boat dipped water. A second shark about like the one above also was pulled in on one of two expeditions. The ling cod, held by the flight surgeon was one of the side catches.

geon from Warren, Pa., has been living with his family at the Forsbeck summer home on Fox island. A sportsman himself, he learned the pleasures of snaring some of the fightin'est salmon ever caught in these waters and was just ripe for something bigger when Purser Hunt stepped into the picture.

He knew just the spot—that deep hole about a half mile out toward McNeil island from the southern end of Fox island. He went into a huddle with Meredith and the two cooked up a dish that would make any salt water angler's mouth water. Of course, it took some time for the two boys in the party to dig some pile worms the day before the first expedition.

Then it was a matter of inducing the poggies to bite so they could be used as bait for the dog fish. When they had several choice dog fish, each about three feet long, they rigged up a large hook, about the size of a gaff, hook, on a clothesline wire leader with a window sashweight as a sinker. Then the hooked this outfit up to a 530 foot rope and were off to the "shark banks."

They let the line out full length before the sinker reached bottom. The first "strike" snatched the middle right out of the dog fish bait, leaving only the head and tail. Things started to get exciting then, as they pushed the head and tail together and dropped line again.

Soon came the second strike. It wasn't the jolt that had been expected, but the mud shark was hooked securely this time. The real surprises were to come later as the navy officer and the two men took turns at pulling in the long line hand over hand.

Boat Ships Water

The big fish got ahead of them, then gave a lurch and plunged downward. The boat bobbed like a cork and took water. He repeated those tactics several times, each jerk coming as a surprise before the angler had time to loosen up on the line. Several times it looked as though the shark would cause the boat to capsize.

After about 40 minutes of this up and down fight the victim was tired out, gave up the struggle and was completely uieted with a blow before having a chance to revive again. The first expedition was made in the 14 foot boat alone. The sportsmen learned later that a few years ago a mud shark really got mad out there and bashed in the side of his captor's skiff. So on the second trip they took along a larger boat and divided the party.

Both mud sharks were pulled in from the 14 footer, however. Snaring the second one was virtually the same story all over again. Each was towed to the Hunt farm where the carcasses are decomposing in a compost pile to be used as fertilizer. The teeth were pulled out for the captors to keep as souvenirs.

Other catches of the last expedition included an ugly rat fish, well named, and a three foot ling cod that put up a good battle. Sharking has its thrills, for it's something different, but when it comes to the real sport of angling, the flight surgeon said he thought he preferred fishing for a fightin' Puget Sound salmon every time.

It was a great experience, though, and he wouldn't have missed it for anything. He likes a good fight, for he was a football player at Franklin and Marshall college, his alma mater. Mud sharks are not exactly rare here but, perhaps for obvious reasons, those "captured" are few and far between.

THEY'RE HANGING THE MAYOR...our own mayor. He wouldn't "collaborate." Another instance where it's "more blessed to give than to receive"...the benefits of these agencies listed here.

DON'T THINK it couldn't have been your mother scrubbing off the V. Lots of nations thought it couldn't happen. They found out differently...and that's one reason you won't.

SICKNESS STRIKES MERCILESSLY when the invader takes all the food and the fuel. Picture yourself...here in your home town...your own little girl in your arms...turned away from a hospital because the invaders took all the medicines and beds for themselves! Let us help. Give now!

Here's a sample of what we didn't get because our fighting allies did!

THEY took it...in London and Lidice. In Warsaw, Prague, Paris, everywhere the swastika cast its evil shadow.

We didn't get it here in Sioux Falls. You don't see the flag with the crooked cross over our City Hall.

Well, let's not get smug about it. One of the biggest reasons is that our fighting allies were keeping it away from us while we were getting ready.

And what ingrates we'd be now if we don't do everything we can to help.

Our allies need food. Clothing. Medicines. They need them to keep fighting...to break the yoke of Axis domination.

The National War Fund is simply a new, efficient mechanism for providing them in the quickest possible time with the least amount of red tape.

But the National War Fund fights on two other fronts, too. It fights with our own fighting forces through the USO. It fights on the Home Front, too, by combining its appeal with that of our own local agencies.

Look over the list of agencies. Figure out what you'd give each one...and double it!

You're only being asked to give once ...and for all these 17 agencies. So... come on make it good!

LUTHERANS TO OBSERVE BROTHERHOOD DAY
Sunday, October 17, is "Brotherhood Day" in the First Lutheran church and all men of the congregation and their friends are especially urged to be present.
The Brotherhood of the United Lutheran Church in America is 25 years old and throughout the country special services are being held Sunday commemorating the event.
Pastor H. A. Rinard will use as his topic "Service—Men" and the men's chorus will sing "O, How Shall I Receive Thee" arranged by Luvaas and "Benediction" by Bach.
It is hoped a large number of men will avail themselves of this opportunity of hearing of the work of the Brotherhood.

Harris Signs As Manager of Buffalo Team

BY WATSON SPELSTRA
Detroit, Oct. 15—(P)—Stanley Raymond Harris, the old American League trooper who didn't last a full season in the National League has prepared the way to return to the junior circuit by signing to manage Buffalo of the International League in 1944.

Buffalo is the principal minor league affiliate of the Detroit Tigers, and the studies reaction here to Harris' latest baseball move, announced yesterday in Buffalo, is that he may return to an important role in the Detroit organization. Harris managed the Tigers five seasons before Mickey Cochran replaced him in 1934.

Aside from polishing his best playing talent there, Detroit has made Buffalo a managerial proving ground. Steve O'Neill, who just finished his first season as Tiger pilot, managed Buffalo three years and Al Vincent spent two years there before Detroit moved him up as O'Neill's aide.

The Tigers have made no announcement on O'Neill's future but they are believed to be planning to sign him for 1944 at the major league meetings in December.

Bucky Harris, now nearly 47 years old, came to Detroit 15 years ago from Washington, where he had made fame as the "boy manager."

At Buffalo it was announced that Harris would receive the largest salary ever paid by the club and that there also was a bonus agreement. For several years the Tigers have had a strong working agreement with the Bisons.

Warren Prepared For Franklin Tilt To Be Played Down-River Tomorrow Afternoon at 3:15

Tomorrow afternoon at 3:15, the Warren Blue and White grid eleven travels to Franklin to continue a football rivalry that dates back to 1908 and are slightly favored to spill the Nursery team by at least one touchdown.

Warren was defeated by the Franklinites in their first game 36 years ago, but since then, the Dragons have held a good advantage over them. The down-river clan has been taken into camp every year for the past decade, yet some of the scores show the Nursery gridgers are never knocked off easily.

Last year, Warren only came out with a 6 point lead after one of the hardest fought battles seen in 1942, and in several years before that they've always brought out formidable opposition for the tangle, with scores of 7 to 0 in '41 and 14 to 13 in '40.

One more backfield man may be available to the locals Saturday with Byron Tross coming out for his first practice session Thursday night and with the recent showings of the remainder of the line-backers, the Blue and White is riding for victory number five.

Robertson Picks Winners In Games Scheduled Saturday

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
New York, Oct. 15—(P)—Having changed the tune last week with 28 wins, five defeats and one tie for a season's standing of 92 victories, 21 setbacks and three ties we plunge into this week's football selections with the feeling that it is about time for the roof to fall in. (Visiting teams first).

Army-Columbia—Coach Earl Blaik says the Cadets haven't been tested in rolling up a combined score of 120 to 0 against Villanova, Colgate and Temple. They'll not be tested tomorrow either.

Penn State-Navy—The Nittany Lions haven't shown anything that would indicate they can stop this great Navy eleven.

College of Pacific-Del Monte Pre-Flight—Pacific probably is Stagg's best but Del Monte has Len Eshmont, Parker Hall and Paul Christian in backfield Del Monte.

Notre Dame-Wisconsin—The Irish to ramble on un molested.

Purdue-Ohio State—The Buckeyes showed improvement in losing to Great Lakes by the Boilemakers last week but in the Boilemakers they're tangling with a team that beat the Sailors 23-13. Purdue to remain undefeated.

Great Lakes-Northwestern—Time to take out the well-worn Penny. Heads-Northwestern; tails-Great Lakes. It's heads.

North Carolina-Duke—Duke didn't lose much prestige in dropping a one-point decision to Navy. The Blue Devils on the rebound.

Camp Davis-North Carolina Pre-Flight—Camp Davis has shown scoring power, the Pre-Flighters haven't. It takes points to win so the soldiers from Camp Davis.

Tulsa-Oklahoma—The soonsers gat acquainted with Red Wade

Covering the Sports Front

—WITH—

BOB JOHNSON

NOTICE TO HUNTERS!

Due to the extreme dryness of the woods in New York State, hunting will be prohibited to resident and non-resident hunters on the opening days of the small game season—today and Monday, until the condition clears up. . . . Duck season, along with woodcock and grouse, was slated to start today, while rabbits, squirrels and ringnecks were to be legal game on Monday, the 18th. . . . Probably quite a few minnows from Warren will be in the woods over the boundary today, but because of the abruptness of the decision on the part of the New York State Game Commission, no prosecutions will be made for those not forewarned.

At the meeting of the Warren Field and Stream Club last night at the YMCA, it was divulged that they have secured a dog-training area on the Jackson Run Road on the Moore farm. . . . Another feather in the hat for this enterprising organization.

Far more suitable to the growing needs of the club, it contains ample cover for birds and has plenty of feeding grounds to keep the large number of game birds situated there.

All hunters may bring their dogs in to train on these grounds and hunting has been prohibited.

A drive has been undertaken to bring in new members to the club, which meets monthly and is rapidly climbing into one of the most forceful positions any sportsmen's club has ever held in northwestern Pennsylvania.

ABOUT THE DOE SEASON

Although some counties have been on the heels of their game protectors, with members of sportsmen's organizations calling them names that wouldn't grind through a linotype machine, the local club last night had a good discussion with District Game Protector George Norris about the doe season.

Norris should know if anybody does. . . . It's a case of killing 500 deer in Warren county this season. . . . or throwing the season open for wanton killing of the antlerless deer. . . . If petitions now circulating around the state to stop the limited doe season, solely because some feel they were cheated out of a license, that's liable to be what will occur.

Farmers in the county have been killing. . . . some of them. . . . four or five deer a month to keep them from damaging crops. . . . Reliable reports went in to tell how many should be removed from each county. . . . and we have 500. . . . with 1500 permits. . . . If they aren't killed off—those 500—it will mean a rapid deterioration of the small game in deer feeding areas, which right at this point is every place. . . . So to keep the ratio of deer and small game on a somewhat equal basis it's a doe year—if it isn't stopped.

Those petitioners—have it any way you like—all deer or all small game, in event of a wide-open season on everything. . . . We'll take the 500.

In the Wake of MURDER

By ADELINE McELFRESH

Chapter 23

"YES, Miss Carter, it is serious," Dr. Alvin Jay said. "We'll do all we can but, frankly, your aunt has had a nasty time of it."

He went on, using medical terms that Jane did not understand, explaining the exact nature of the wound.

When he finished, Doctor Jay asked: "Tell me the truth, Doctor Jay. What are her chances?"

The doctor shook his head. "Pretty slim," he admitted. "But Mrs. Black has a remarkable constitution. I've been her physician for years."

"Yes, I know. Do you think she struck her head in falling?"

Dr. Jay hesitated. Something in his eyes made Jane uneasy.

Jane stared at him, astonished, written in every feature. She couldn't believe it.

"You mean . . ." Her voice floundered into a hopeless silence.

Jane nodded emphatically. "Yes, I do, definitely."

Too shocked to speak, Jane watched him fill out a report sheet and ring for a nurse.

"I'm sorry, my dear," he told Jane, "but there is nothing I can do. We doctors . . ."

"Forgive me, Doctor Jay," Jane finally found her tongue. "It's just that I can't believe it. Why, Aunt Ella was so sweet to everyone. I just can't think that anyone would do such a thing!"

The doctor smiled benignly. This wasn't his first encounter with a skeptical relative.

Jane slipped into her coat. "Well," she said, "let me know as soon as there is a change. I'm going over to the Chronicle office. Uncle Ed may be there."

BUT Black had not returned. Mike Patrick, when Jane asked him, said he supposed the editor was out at the fire.

"Mike," Jane sat on the edge of his desk, "is there anything I can do? Answer telephones or something? I'll go crazy if I just wait."

"Everything is under control here, Jane," Patrick told her.

Chapter 24

THE narrow bed was rocking. The walls and ceiling were spinning in mad circles. And somewhere far away voices.

Jane lay very still for a long time. The voices went on and on, fading into almost nothing at times, then growing stronger.

"That government man is here, Doctor Jay," one of the voices said. "Shall I let him in?"

So this was the hospital, Jane realized wearily. And that government man the nurse mentioned. . . . she didn't want to see him. He would ask questions. Questions about Brad Forrester.

But Brad was dead. The sergeant had said so. They couldn't hurt him now. The memory came back, bringing with new pain that stabbed at her heart. With a strangled cry, she sat bolt upright.

"Take it easy, Miss Carter," Dr. Jay was beside her instantly. "You took a long time in coming 'round'."

Jane glanced from him to the nurse, who smiled reassuringly. "There is someone to see you," the doctor said then, as naturally as though she were here for an appendectomy or something.

She nodded. The nurse hurried out. Jane wanted to ask Doctor Jay to stay but he, too, left. She turned her face to the wall.

"You poor darling," Jane's heart turned over and zoomed to new heights. Brad! She tried to sit up and couldn't.

Pain was in those gray eyes now, but there was happiness too. Brad smoothed a curl back from her forehead.

"Darling," he said. "What happened? I can't get the straight of it."

With his help, Jane sat up. Then, leaning against his shoulder, she told him.

. . . and then I passed out," she finished. "Completely."

"POOR kid," he kissed her. "I've got a lot to make up to you, haven't I? But I couldn't tell you, Jane not even when I was sure."

"Sure?"

He nodded. "Yes, dear. We've got our man, as the saying goes."

Even then, Jane thought later, something warned her. "Well?" she asked.

"The girls are on the switchboard—and are they ever busy! People have been warned not to tie up the telephone lines, so they break their damn-fool necks to do just that." He thought a moment.

"You might go down to Red Cross headquarters. They're going to serve coffee and sandwiches and they need volunteers badly."

"Right. And if Uncle Ed comes in, tell him about Aunt Ella, will you, Mike?"

The sports editor nodded.

The Red Cross office was teeming with activity. Volunteer workers were working like so many beavers. Jane smiled at the director, Mary Edgewood, who welcomed her like a long lost friend.

"I'm so glad you're here, dear," she said. "We're in an awful jam. Those poor men can't work without food and, darn it, we can't feed them without help. Come on."

She led the way to a long table, where women were preparing sandwiches, and Jane squeezed into a vacant spot. Just like an assembly line, she thought, wielding her knife methodically. Piles of sandwiches were growing. Great urns of coffee were bubbling merrily, sending out an aroma that teased the palate.

"They're sending trucks out to the forest," the woman next to Jane said. "Wonder who will take them?"

"I don't know," Jane murmured. But she did know. She was going.

SOON, noticing a stir in the next room, she left her place and found Mary Edgewood.

"Mary, may I go with the truck?"

Mrs. Edgewood gave her a surprised look.

"It's dangerous, Jane," she said. "I had planned to go by myself. I hate to ask any of these women to take the chance."

"Please," Jane begged. "I'm not afraid."

Mary patted her shoulder. "All right, dear. I really appreciate it."

Jane smiled and accepted the wool jacket that the other woman handed to her. Maybe she would see Brad. Maybe he is out there, after all, she thought.

The coffee was being poured into large kegs and loaded into a truck.

So much of the time, she and Brad had trailed him and the blonde woman to Emerson, where they had lost the long black sedan in the foreign section. The blonde woman had been at the powder plant explosion, too. Even at the funeral, when Brandt had been driving that long black sedan, she had not known.

And Ed Black had been the only other person, outside of Brad and herself, who knew of the letter! "I should have known, Brad," Jane said simply. "I didn't tell you enough. When I think of telling Uncle Ed about that letter and causing Mr. Billingsley's death. . . . Oh, Brad, how could he?"

That last was almost a wail. The strain of the last few days had been too much. Great, racking sobs shook Jane's body.

"There, there, darling," Brad soothed. "It's all over now. We'll go away somewhere and forget all this."

We. Even in her sorrow, Jane noticed that. We'll go away, he said. There was comfort—and strength—in the words.

And then suddenly the memory of Joe Masters' wail entered her mind. But somehow it wasn't the same memory—the one that had kept telling her there could be no other man—the memory that had been forcing her to battle with herself.

She knew, now, that a girl could love twice, and just as deeply.

BRAD would be leaving soon, going on to a new and perhaps more dangerous assignment. But we've got our lives ahead of us, her heart sang. Just one long honeymoon, Brad and I. Mrs. Brad Forrester. It's a nice name.

"The fire!" Jane forced her thoughts back to reality.

"We've got it licked," Pride was in Brad's tone. "And don't ask me how Roberts and I escaped. You wouldn't believe me, darling."

Jane smiled. "And Aunt Ella?"

"Chipper as you please, everything considered. She's pretty upset. She found out about Ed. When she confronted him with her information—well, he couldn't risk detection, so he—took steps."

Jane closed her eyes. She didn't want Brad to see the new pain that was so much worse than the other.

Rabbit Show Sunday At Youngsville

The Warren County Domestic Rabbit Association would like to draw attention to the article which appeared in this paper earlier this week, in regard to the show which the organization is sponsoring. The show will be held indoors at Youngsville Island Park, October 17th. The public is cordially invited. Admission is free.

As stated in the preceding announcement, the association would like to have everyone who is raising rabbits enter their stock. You need not belong to the association, nor need you join later, in order to enter your animals; but the organization would like to have those interested make application for membership in the Warren County Domestic Rabbit Association, of which the primary purpose is to further the interests of the industry throughout this region.

By combined efforts the results throughout this section can be greatly strengthened and magnified in placing the Domestic Rabbit on a level equal to that held by the other animal industries.

There will be a 10c entry fee per rabbit; but a doe and entire litter can be entered for 10c provided the litter is under 2 months of age. All entries should be made by 10 o'clock in order to qualify your stock for the judging.

Bring one, ten, or twenty rabbits; but let's go—to the show!

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove, Oct. 8.—About thirty-five of the friends of Rev. John McCleary, pastor of the Free Methodist church, surprised him Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Landin, in honor of his birthday. A delicious tureen supper was served and a social time enjoyed and a devotional service conducted. Mrs. Robert Mahan presented the guest of honor with a purse of money from those present. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnson and son Cecil of Mathews Run.

Joseph Thorpe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thorpe and husband of Mrs. Luella Thorpe left Thursday for service in the Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Landin received a telegram Tuesday evening from their son Robert Landin, seaman second class, informing them of his safe arrival in San Francisco, Calif., after a trip in the Pacific.

Mrs. Carleton Foss, Mrs. Margaret Bindley, Mrs. Delmar Mickelson and Mrs. Roy Briggs were among those attending the W. S. C. S. convention at Warren Wednesday.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Norbeck were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Swanson and their aunt, Mrs. Mabel Smith of Meadville.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Mickelson and daughter Phyllis, attended the Horse Show sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, at Meadville Saturday where Mr. Mickelson acted as one of the judges.

Mrs. Mabel Dallas left early Friday morning to attend the State W. C. T. U. convention at Lancaster, Pa.

NEW HEATING PLANT AT METHODIST CHURCH

A new boiler and coal stoker are being installed at First Methodist church and for that reason there will be no heat in the sanctuary on Sunday morning.

The morning worship service will be at the usual hour, 11 o'clock, and will last no more than 35 minutes. The congregation is being urged to recognize in this way the rugged faith of our forefathers who sat in unheated sanctuaries for two-hour preaching services; also our boys who worship God at divine services on the open decks of transport ships, on the blistering sands of the desert, or in the dense, dark, damp equatorial jungles.

There will be no Sunday school but the Youth Fellowship will meet in the E. D. Everts room at 6:30 p. m. All other weekly activities will be in this same room, it is stated.

W.C.T.U. News

CONEWANGO UNION
Conewango WCTU members were entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Raymond Rapp, 8 Kenmore street, with a good attendance. President Bessie Johnson was in charge, with Edna Duff at the piano for group singing and Rev. J. C. Wygant in charge of devotions.

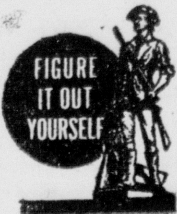

During the business routine, Mrs. Johnson reported for the auditing committee; also the resignation of Mrs. Gertrude Johnson as treasurer. This was accepted and

Mrs. Ray Brownell named to the vacancy.

Mrs. Mabel Dallas, county president, gave a fine report of the county convention held in Youngsville and highlights of the state officers' meeting in Lancaster. Mrs. Holt dismissed the meeting with prayer and the committee served refreshments.

During 1940, 215 persons visited the Rainbow Bridge National Monument in Utah.

MAKING BIG FILL

At the plant of the G. G. Greene Company, Pennsylvania avenue, west a big fill is being made preparatory to building an addition to the plant of the company. Scores of loads of earth are being dumped into the swampy land there. The earth is being secured from the gravel bank at the head of Dartmouth street and trucked to the West End. The Greene Company is engaged in work and the demand upon it are such that plans for an addition to the plant have been approved.

Potatoes make excellent feed for cows and do not flavor the milk, according to findings of dairymen.

Three . . .
Pillbox . . . Calot Sailor . . .

Here are three of the dominant basic shapes of the fall and winter season. "Basic" because they represent that combination of smartness and suitability to most personalities which makes you want to say, "It's the one" the moment you try it on.

The gold stars sprinkled over this little pillbox sparkle in the lamp light and its full lacy veil gives it added glamor. 5.95

A sailor is always important, especially if it is of felt and has gathered felt trimming around the brim. A back veil. 7.95

Warm Dresses For Cold Days

Let the cold winds blow as hard as they will, you will not feel it with this coat on, as the chamois inter lining gives you full protection. The cuffs of this same interlining are knit so no wind can possibly go up your sleeve. Then let a warm day come . . . and you just unbutton this warm lining and take it right out, leaving you with a light-weight sport coat lined in rayon satin. A coat that will wear you for years and always look smart and new.

From year to year it goes on, this fleece coat. So perennial a favorite has it become that it is now what fashionists term a "classic". That means, first of all, smartness. Second, sensible serviceability. Third, suitability for all sorts of places and conditions. Finally, year-to-year fashion-rightness which will disappear only on that far day when the "classic" wears out (if it ever does). This model has curvilinear saddle pockets smartly row-stitched, and three heavy leather-like buttons.

Everyone is going to dress warmer this year with homes and offices kept at a lower temperature. You will need just this type of dress. A "classic" in its simple lines, but also a dress that will meet any situation and come out right on top. Pictured is a model of 69% wool and 31% rabbits hair, in a luscious coral shade. Other models of 100% wool in both two and one piece styles. All in Fall leaf colors.
